"Self-expansion"

True brotherhood is not instinctive but must be learned by sharing, experiencing, and reacting to life situations. Common loyalties, responsibilities, and goals produce interdependence among individuals. Under these circumstances a young man's perspective expands from himself to his associates. By sharing his feelings, he can establish a close bond with those close to him and at the same time discover himself. For this, self-expansion is a prerequisite and from this the individual is given direction, so often lacking in college students. After brotherly love develops, new emotions are felt. The following quotations describe this:

"I want to help my brothers as they have helped me, to give as well as receive."

"I feel that I really belong, this means everything to me."

Here are expressed newly developed feelings evidencing fraternal devotion. Consequently, the happiness, warmth, and security of home have been recreated on the campus. A strong sense of kinship exists between brothers. The strength of this bond is apparent.

"My real brother was no brother to me at all, I mean he was a real zero as a brother. I never really had a brother in my whole life until I came down here and joined the fraternity. It's really a great feeling."

Responsibility goes hand in hand with brotherhood. Each member gives according to his own abilities so that the fraternity can reach those goals he feels important. We must maintain a friendly atmosphere and spirit.

At the same time we must not neglect to prepare for those who come after us. We must be constantly mindful that rush is the life blood of the fraternity. We must seek the involvement of all members in chapter functioning. We must never forget that brotherhood we feel today, and finally we must build an image of Sigma Phi Epsilon that radiates the pursuit of excellence.

Voice of the Fraternity

The JOURNAL invites readers to contribute their views, thoughts, ideas, and philosophies on topics affecting Sigma Phi Epsilon. Free interchange of communication, when it comes from the heart, is a natural way of improving understanding, creating good will, and strengthening the bond of membership. Let's hear from you.

Accent on Brotherhood

The Purdue Sig Eps took a very good pledge class, this spring, of 38 men. Rush was very successful and Sigma Phi Epsilon brotherhood overcame the threat of a "collapsing Greek system" that has put several strong national fraternities in financial (as well as social) jeopardy.

No longer in our present age are men impressed with simple extras such as pool tables, color TVs, modern houses, luxurious rooms, and the like. Today the Greek system is put to the test on the grounds on which it is built—brotherhood.

Men who come through rush are not looking for mere exterior impressions, but rather are looking for the important things. 38 men found the mutual brotherhood they were looking for, and in a year that many have failed, Sigma Phi Epsilon has flourished. Indiana Alpha is proud of their 38 pledges.—WALLY BRANT, Purdue Chapter, 690 Waldron Street, West Lafayette, Ind.

This Brother Needs Help

It is to our regret that the men of Oklahoma Alpha have to announce a tragedy as we now do. A grave misfortune has caused one of our brothers to lie paralyzed as the result of an athletic injury a few weeks ago. Being a man of tremendous stature, he has left a vacant spot in our brotherhood that is hard to fill.

For four years the men of Oklahoma Alpha have received a fraternal bond of brotherhood from this man who has proved himself in more than the fraternity realm. The man is Ray Murphy: a good Christian, outstanding Sig Ep, and nationally known athlete.

Ray's picture has appeared frequently in the JOURNAL for his outstanding accomplishments in intercollegiate athletics at Oklahoma State. Ray has been a consistent, 3-year contender for the NCAA wrestling crown at 137 lbs., placing runner-up in 1969. He has also served his local chapter well, acting as summer rush chairman, pledge trainer, and has played numerous intramural sports.

It is not often that a fraternity on the O.S.U. campus has the opportunity to have a varsity athlete that is as dedicated to his fraternity as Ray is. We are proud to say that we have had this opportunity. Ray has worked diligently for Sig Ep and has contributed to the house without letup.

Now he lies helpless with a broken neck and is paralyzed from the neck down. He is in critical condition and is under 24-hour intensive care. He needs our help.

Because of the enormous expense of the hospital and special neurosurgeons, the Raymond Murphy Fraternal Trust has been established. We here at Oklahoma Alpha are doing all we can to help Ray and his family, but we realize that it is not enough. So we are asking your help for a truly deserving Sig Ep brother. The Road Back

The fall trimester of 1969 was dim for Parsons College Sig Eps. The five members who returned were informed that the college would not allow any fraternity on the hill which did not have at least 12 paying members. The brothers were disappointed and rejected but never thought of quitting.

The house activated four from the last spring pledge class. Three of these brothers—Bill Seres, Larry Hudak, and Charlie Funk,—rented an off-campus apartment-house and used the place for fraternity meetings and other associated functions. Working hard the nine brothers and Milt Prettyman gathered a 15-member pledge class. This started the revival of the dying fraternity, though it had no cooperation from its apathetic alumni.

Our basic concern was to get back on Fraternity Hill. After constantly urging the administration, we were finally allowed on. Soon afterwards we activated eight of the 15 pledges. Once again we were visited by Milt Prettyman and Ric de la Houssaye for more suggestions. John Hartman was soon to follow and since he is on the Board of Directors, we all felt that he could be helpful in our relationship with the alumni board—not to mention the help we received from last year's president, Dave Neff.

This spring, which is the hardest time to get a big pledge class, we were fortunate in pledging eight good men. With only two brothers graduating, the outlook for the future is hopeful.

The brothers of Iowa Zeta would like to express their sincere thanks to National Director John Hartman and Staff Representative Milt Prettyman. Every brother has a deep feeling of gratitude for these men. Thanks, John and Milt!—Bill Bruchak, controller, Parsons College chapter, Fairfield, Iowa.

West Virginia's Chapter Library

On the Cover

By JIM ROOP

ONE man has almost single-handedly created West Virginia University's chapter library of 1,000 books in five short years.

Dr. Harry G. Wheat, professor emeritus of education, West Virginia, 1912, earned his A.B. degree at West Virginia, his A.M. at Chicago, and Ph.D. at Columbia. He served Sig Ep as Grand Guard from 1912-14. After teaching in public schools for some years he entered the college teaching field at Glenville, W.Va., moved on to Marshall, W.Va., and then to Milwaukee, Wis. In 1935, he came to WVU and retired in 1956.

During his career, Dr. Wheat wrote six collegelevel textbooks on education and a set of arithmetics for grades 1-8.

Realizing the great value of a chapter library, Dr. Wheat was a prime factor in getting the large room at West Virginia's six-year old house as a library. Also in the Harry G. Wheat Memorial Library, a large set of files aids the brothers. Old composites dating back to the early 1900s dot the walls. West Virginia has never been below third place in grades recently, a fitting testimony to the library and to the inspiration of Dr. Wheat.

Howard Buhse, Minnesota, '29

A NEW YORK-based brokerage house, under the direction of a University of Minnesota Sig Ep, has perfected one of the most advanced business computer systems in all industry.

The firm is Hornblower & Weeks-Hemphill, Noyes, and the chairman of its executive committee is Howard E. Buhse, Minnesota, '29.

The magazine Business Week describes the achievement in a feature article, "The Street's New Paper-cutter: New computer system now operating at Hornblower & Weeks comes closest yet to solving back-office paperwork tangle."

Apparently, the Hornblower system qualifies as "space-age" because it is capable of—

Multiprocessing—more than one computer running at once.

Multiprogramming—several different programs running simultaneously.

On-line and real-time operation—meaning that transactions are fully processed on the run as orders from sales offices move through the system to the stock exchange and back.

Nothing piles up. The moment the markets close, the books are in balance.

After five years, the daring H & W experiment has proven a whopping success. The other big Wall Street houses are installing similar systems, and Howard E. Buhse is getting the credit for it.

Space-Age Broker

Says Business Week's writer: "Without the determined backing of Buhse, an imaginative and affable executive who is more a computer fan than expert, the Hornblower system would have had only a slim chance. It breaks up too many traditional brokerage house practices and eliminates or combines such old and established back-office kingdoms as the order room and purchase and sales department."

Wisconsin Boy Made Good

Howard E. Buhse was born at Prairie du Chien, Wis., and began his education in the public schools there before his family moved to Minneapolis. He entered the University of Minnesota in 1924 and was initiated by Minnesota Alpha the same year.

He recalls that his grades were only average, for he had to spend far more time earning money to pay his college expenses than he did in preparing for his class assignments. Selling men's wear for the Dayton Company, he made a fraternity house each lunch and each dinner with a trunk load of clothes and in the afternoons worked in the campus store of the Company.

After he was graduated in 1929 from the Law school with a J.D., he tried, without success, to get a job with a law firm. "Things were just starting to get tough prior to the Depression," he recalls, and it was hard to get a job.

Finally, a friend who was head of the Investment Department of the Chicago Office of Hornblower & Weeks suggested he come to Chicago and work as a bond salesman.

"This I did," he recalls, "starting three days before Black Friday in October, 1929. We were supposed to have a training course, but the business was in such an uproar that nobody remembered we were around. Finally, some months later, someone handed me a book on bond salesmanship and an offering circular on Waldorf-Astoria Leasehold Gold 7s, and told be to go sell some. As I recall, I did sell some, but if my recollection is right, they quickly defaulted. Anyway, I survived with my pay going as low as $75 per month."

The hard years did not continue indefinitely, however, and in 1939 Buhse was made head of the investment department. In 1942 he was made a partner, and in 1959 he moved to New York to head the firm.

Although he has made some noteworthy contributions to his profession, or to the industry, as he calls it, he remembers with the most satisfaction his experience as president of the board of education of Winnetka, Ill. "During my presidency, he writes, "we attempted to recognize the value of good teaching by instituting a salary schedule which, in its time, was one of the highest anywhere." For the vigorous program in progressive education which it pioneered, the Winnetka school system became one of the best known in the nation.

Buhse has served as chairman of the Chicago Association of Stock Exchange Firms, chairman of the board of governors of the National Association of Securities Dealers, governor of the New York Stock Exchange, and president of the Bond Club of New York.

Firms of which he is a director include Amsted Industries, Inc., the Ceco Corporation, EDP Resources, Inc., National Aviation Corporation, and Republic Corporation. He is a trustee of Manhattanville College.

Brother Buhse is a recipient of the Sigma Phi Epsilon Award for Distinguished Service.

A T INDIANA, Sig Ep Bill Wolfe has been selected as one of 32 American college seniors to be awarded a Rhodes Scholarship for study at Oxford University in England.

Bill, 21, is a native of Decatur, Ill., where he was valedictorian of his high school class. He stands 6-foot-2, weighs 215 pounds, and played tackle on the I.U. team which went to the Rose Bowl in 1968. He carries a 3.6 gpa as a major in finance in the School of Business. Other activities include Blue Key, president of the Board of Aeons, an advisory group to the university president, and the Indiana University Student Foundation.

At Oxford next fall, Bill will study economics. He says he enjoys being with people and "will read almost anything you put in front of me." Eventually he hopes to become a university professor of management. "And from there I want to be a consultant in government and try to get results." He added, "There need to be some tremendous changes."

Who's Writing Your Chapter History?

II. The Tools

By PEDRO CAMPA

ILLINOIS

We who have a deep concern for our Fraternity chapter are vitally conscious of the importance of its history. History is tradition and if we are wise, we seek guidance and discipline in tradition. But we observe sadly that events of importance, here today, have a way of becoming lost very quickly in the dim yesterdays. And if we are to make use of our history we cannot be satisfied to let significant events remain buried.

The task of writing a chapter history is not as difficult as it seems at first glance; many tools are available which we can put to use.

The Journal's back issues I found to be the most valuable single tool in the writing of the history. Most recent chapters have a complete bound collection since their founding; older chapters might have lost some of their earlier copies. Volumes I to XXVIII are specially hard to find anywhere other than in Richmond. News items in The Journal give an idea of the chapter's past activities and officers. At times it is frustrating not to be able to find a chapter's entry due to a lazy secretary.

Members of the chapter's alumni board are usually well qualified to give the most realistic, though not always the most colorful of accounts of the chapter's history. Many of them have minutes of the past meetings.

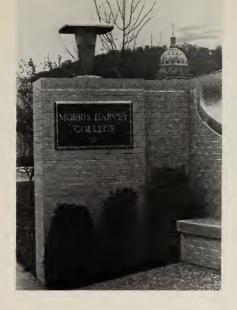

The chapter's minutes and record books can prove valuable if they have been kept by an efficient recorder. They can yield facts and numbers on membership for certain years. All of this data can be checked against the chapter roll lists maintained at the Headquarters in Richmond.

The campus newspapers during the early years of the fraternity system carried whole columns of campus gossip and anecdotes; these may be drawn from to add color to an otherwise dull retelling of past events. In later years they give IM results, IFC activities, winners of Homecoming events, etc. Most universities have several histories in which one or two chapters may be found dealing with the establishment of the Fraternity System on campus, and the policies of the Administration in dealing with Greek-letter societies. This information will afford touches of background leading up to the founding of Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Old copies of chapter newspapers are for obvious reasons a mine of information; such things are hard to come by unless they are filed in Headquarters archives or are contributed by alumni.

The School Yearbook is a good record of yearly campus life, and it can help identify some faces in unlabeled chapter photos coming from dateless scrapbooks. Persons who have charge of the school's archives are always gracious in helping by allowing the use of their collections.

If the above-mentioned sources are used thoroughly the writer might come up with three volumes of history. Clearly that is not the object of the project. The finished product should not be a lengthy apologia of the chapter, but a memento of happy fellowship and constructive struggle that will renew and strengthen alumni bonds in the heart of common tradition. The history should enlist the support of alumni in obtaining publicity in the chapter's newsletter, and the publication of the manuscript should be carefully considered.

35 followers of the motto
receive a charter as West
Virginia Zeta January 10

By RICHARD WILLIAMS and LARRY ROBERTSON

Sig Eps Enter Morris Harvey

HIRTY-FIVE men at Morris Harvey College, Charleston, W.Va., were initiated as charter members on January 10. The initiation ceremonies were conducted at the Oakridge Gospel Tabernacle under the guidance of Staff Representatives Dave Lembach and Larry Atkins. R. Eric Weise of Cincinnati, a National Director, presented the charter.

The ceremony continued for eight hours, as 35 new initiates and 10 members at large were welcomed into the bond of Sigma Phi Epsilon. The banquet-dance took place in the Daniel Boone Hotel's Mirror Room.

West Virginia Zeta Week began Saturday, January 3, at the Sig Ep Pine Manor Lodge with a warmup dance. Various dinners were conducted throughout the week, including Golden Hearts, Alumni and Colony banquets. The National Plege Test was administered on Thursday with all 35 men passing with flying colors. The Golden Hearts held a reception on Friday night, during which they served cake and punch to the brothers who were anxiously anticipating their initiation the following morning. The weather failed to cooperate with initiation plans, as nearly four inches of snow fell during the night. But after four years of hard work towards national recognition, the brothers of the colony did not let the adverse weather dampen them other than physically.

Charter President Charles Lee Rupert, served as toastmaster for the banquet-dance. Brother Rupert was installed at the banquet along with other charter officers: Vice-president Jeff Ferrell, Controller Larry Robertson, Secretary Richard Williams, and Recorder Ed Withrow. The Reverend Winton R. Houck gave the invocation and former Colony President Greg Ayers gave a brief summary of the history of the colony. Dr. Weise then presented the chapter with the long-awaited charter and spoke on the changing world around us. Local Founder President Frank Matthews gave the benediction and the dance got underway with music by The Inspirations.

Background of Colony

West Virginia Zeta was first conceived in March, 1966, when a member of the Morris Harvey faculty, Fred A. Barkey, approached several of his students and discussed the idea of a fourth social fraternity at the college. Soon afterwards, an official meeting was held with the group adopting the name Sigma Epsilon Phi. In May, 1966, the first social activity was held with a rush function for prospective members. On May 21, the first ritual ceremony of Sigma Epsilon Phi was held at Charleston Catholic High School. This enlarged the roster to 21 charter members in the new local. Frank Matthews was installed as first president and number one initiate. Matthews, along with Joseph Robertson, Fred Rapp, Mark Robinson (deceased), Homer Bowers, James Arthur, and Lance Vaughan, are recognized as the seven founders.

Having adopted the motto, "A Cut Above the Ordinary," the fall semester of 1966 saw Sigma Epsilon Phi gain recognition as a men's social organization at the College. With permanent recognition obtained, petitions were addressed to several national fraternities with hope of affiliation by the fall of 1967. This dream became a reality with our affiliation with Sigma Phi Epsilon on December 10, 1967.

The semesters that followed saw the Morris Harvey Sig Eps become active in college activities. The numerous awards and honors include: two first-place trophies for the best float in two Homecoming parades, the Sig Ep candidate for Homecoming Queen winning the Queenship, second place in Greek Week activities, second place in May Day Sing, and various championships in intramural competition.

The Sig Eps showed their strength in the spring of 1969, when they pulled the largest pledge class on campus. Twenty-three men chose the Sigma Phi Epsilon colony. The colony's rivals were Tau Kappa Epsilon, Alpha Sigma Phi, Theta Xi, and Zeta Beta Tau.

The four sororities on campus, Alpha Xi Delta, Alpha Omicron Pi, Gamma Delta Phi, and Delta Zeta, have supported the brothers of West Virginia Zeta in every way possible.

The outlook for the future is promising, as an effective rush and pledge program continue to pledge and train only those who stand a "Cut Above the Ordinary." The brothers of West Virginia Zeta are honored to be a part of such a growing organization and wish to thank everyone who played a part in making the new chapter possible.

The 45 brothers of West Virginia Zeta, in order of initiation, are: Frank Matthews, Fred Rapp, Joeseph Robertson, Peter Mar-

Growth of the College

Morris Harvey College is an independent liberal arts college of 3,000 students. From its founding in 1888 until 1935, the college was located in Barboursville, W.Va., and was operated under the Methodist Episcopal Church. In the summer 1935 when the College was moved to Charleston, administrative headquarters was established in the old West Virginia State Capitol.

In September, 1947, all personnel and records were transferred to the permanent campus on the south bank of the Kanawha River opposite the West Virginia State Capitol, where the College is now housed in a modern plant.

In March, 1958, Morris Harvey College became fully accredited. In 1959, it became a member of the Association of American Colleges, and the American Association of College Teacher Education, and the American Council of Education. In 1962, it achieved membership in the College Entrance Examination Board.

On November 16, 1960 the board of trustees of the College authorized a development program costing approximately $4,000,000. The implementation of the program has resulted in an addition of the southwest wing of Riggleman Hall, the $1,700,000 Student Union Building, and two new residence halls, all completed by 1966. A new Libarary, a Physical Education Building, a Performing Arts Building, and two new residence halls are to be completed by 1973.

More and More Red Doors

THE FRATERNITY installed six new chapters during the month of April—a record number for a single month.

Two chapters received charters on April 4. The Clemson College colony was installed as South Carolina Beta, with Past Grand President Bedford W. Black and National Directors William A. MacDonough and James W. Frazier officiating for the Grand Chapter. The colony at Defiance College was installed as Ohio Omicron, with National Director W. Brooks Reed presenting the charter.

On April 11, the colony at Madison College received the charter of Virginia Iota from Brother Frazier.

On April 25, three installation ceremonies were conducted. Virginia Polytechnic Institute received a charter as Virginia Kappa, with Brother MacDonough officiating. Morehead State Colony became Kentucky Zeta. The colony at Marquette received the charter of Wisconsin Zeta from Grand Treasurer Frank J. Ruck, Jr., and National Director John W. Hartman. The Marquette chapter is No. 183.

Reports and pictures covering these installations have been scheduled for the September JOURNAL.

THE 17-year existence of the Order of the Barons of St. Mary's University, San Antonio, Tex., and the 4-year career of the colony became old pages of history on January 31, 1970.

On this day, Texas Theta Chapter of Sigma Phi Epsilon was born as 23 men were initiated as charter members. National Director John W. Hartman presented the chapter to Colony President John Walsh at the installation banquet which began a new day of history.

Staff Representative John P. Hearn inaugurated the series of installation events when he arrived in San Antonio on Wednesday, January 28, to brief the candidates for initiation. A pledge test was administered to the members of the colony on January 30. This was followed by an informal reception attended by guests of Texas Theta, including the initiating teams from Texas, Lamar Tech, and Sam Houston State.

Initiated on Saturday morning were: Gabe Ayson, Honolulu, Hawaii; Lynn Barnett, St. Louis, Mo.; Tom Collins, Philadelphia, Pa.; David Dacy, Fort Worth; Ralph Domas, Baton Rouge, La.; Steve Flores, Pueblo, Colo.; John Flume, San Antonio; John King, Saratoga Springs, N.Y.; Paul Kozlowicz, Milwaukee, Wis.; Lucian LaBarba, Dallas; John Murphy, San Antonio; Bill Biehoff, Florissant, Mo.; Mike Painter, Fayetsville, N.C.; Cy Richards, San Antonio; Mike Riedel, Del Rio; Bill Robb, Conroe; Bob Sneddon, Pueblo, Colo.; Rodney Smith, Dallas; Bob Spring, Houston; Ed Vierling, St. Louis, Mo.; John W. Walsh, Oak Park, Ill.; Randy Wilson, Boerne; and Charles Winfield, Pharr. Brother Hartman presented the Interpretation during a ritualistic meeting presided over by

A New Chapter in Texas

Texas Alpha president Bruce Anderson.

These ceremonies were immediately followed by a formal dinner-dance in the Sheraton Ball Room. After a savory steak dinner, Chapter President and Toastmaster John Walsh acknowledged such guests as Chapter Counselor Charles Kenworthey, District Governor Chester Lee, Brother Hartman, Alumni President Sandy Rose, Staff Representatives John Hearn and Larry Atkins, St. Mary's Dean of Students Deed Vest, St. Mary's Vicepresident Marion F. Belka, and brothers from the University of Texas, Lamar Tech, and Sam Houston State. Before introducing guest speakers Charles Kenworthey and John Hartman, Brother Walsh reviewed the Colony's history.

John Hartman's and Charles Kenworthey's speeches engulfed a range of topics from brother John O'Toole's wavering draft board status to four and a half years of time, work, and energy produced by many dedicated men. Brother Kenworthey said, "It means that you will have to hold on to the best traditions of your colony days and build into the tradition, customs, and responsibilities of Sigma Phi Epsilon. It means you will give character and courtesy, virtue, and scholarship, the same dedication you have been giving to partying, intramural sports and good fellowship."

Four-year-old colony at St. Mary's University, San Antonio, installed as Texas Theta, the state's eighth chapter, on January 31

Following this, the Chamber of Commerce, in keeping with their "red carpet" welcome to Sig Ep guests, presented Brother Hartman with an honorary mayorship of the city of San Antonio; and John Walsh awarded Chapter Counselor Charles Kenworthey a plaque honoring him as Alumnus of the Year.

At 9:30 P.M., Brother Hearn installed the following as officers of the new chapter: John W. Walsh, president; William Robb, vice-president; William Niehoff, controller; Robert Sneddon, secretary; and Ralph Domas, recorder. The brothers then joined in salute to their Fraternity by singing the Anthem. The formal dance concluded the evening.

A view of the Academic Library at St. Mary's.

The University

St. Mary's University is the fourth largest private university in Texas—after Baylor, Texas Christian, and S.M.U. The University was founded in 1852—just 16 years after the fall of the Alamo—when four brothers of the Society of Mary, a teaching order of Brothers and Priests founded in Bordeaux, France, arrived in pioneer San Antonio by stagecoach from Indianola to start a much-needed school at the invitation of the Bishop.

The school began in a second-floor loft over a store on Main Plaza and then moved a year later to a new limestone building on the north bank of the San Antonio River, an address now known as 112 College Street. At the turn of the century, the campus was moved to a mesquite-covered 130-acre plot beyond the northwestern edge of the city, a mile above Woodlawn Lake.

Growing along with San Antonio, St. Mary's boasts a $25 million building program which has added ten new structures in Texas Colonial architecture to such sturdy Gothic landmarks as the St. Louis Hall administration building.

Student enrollment has doubled in the past seven years. In the fall of 1969, there were 4,300 students.

Operated by the St. Louis province of the Society of Mary, coeducational since 1963, St. Mary's is a university in the accepted meaning of the word university as "a collection of colleges." These are the School of Arts and Sciences, the School of Business Administration, the School of Law, and the Graduate School.

The Local Group

The Order of the Barons was founded by 18 men of the University on March 20, 1948, who elected the following officers from among their number: Duane Hitchcock, president; Wayne Sunders, vice president; Joe Speir, secretary; Bob Mepham, treasurer; and Cale Darnell, sergeant-at-arms.

The purpose and ideals upon which the club was founded were: (1) to further the general representation of the members in the activities of St. Mary's U.; (2) To promote the interest of the school; (3) To provide entertainment for the club members; (4) To support school activities; (5) To develop leadership abilities in the club members; (6) To foster school spirit and a feeling of fellowship.

Over the next 17 years, the club experienced much success and gained much prestige. Recognizing the advantages of affiliation with a progressive national fraternity, leaders decided to petition Sigma Phi Epsilon. The officers at that time were: president, Dave Clark; vice-president, Bill Novak; treasurer, John Saba; secretary, Bob Schleinat; and sergeant-at-arms, Bob Dwyer.

Since then the colony has participated in such projects as the annual "Thanksgiving canned good collection" and the nationwide "Muscular-dystrophy" drive. Members have aided in community action by acting as marshals and drivers for San Antonio's St. Patrick's Day Parade.

In the intramural program, Sig Eps have won both the intramural and interfraternity first place trophies the last two years. Basketball, tennis, badminton, as well as bowling championships, place Sigma Phi Epsilon in the lead for both trophies again.

Recent Accomplishments

The brothers of Texas Theta participated in the national "Shamrocks For Dystrophy" Tag Day, March 14. They turned out to man four street corners in downtown San Antonio and were successful in collecting a substantial amount.

In more recent intramural action, the basketball team breezed through an undefeated season. The team was led in scoring and playmaking by Paul Kozlowicz and Steve Flores, who placed on the intramural All-Star squad. In volleyball the fraternity took second place. The bowling team of Frank Hall, Jim Coen, Charles Winfield, and John Kish captured first. With these victories, Texas Theta is leading all fraternities for the intramural championship.

Several outstanding varsity athletes are members of the new chapter. Tony LaLumia and Joe Johnston were members of the basketball team which lost to the No. 1 small college team Stephen F. Austin in the District IV NAIA playoffs and finished the season with an outstanding 20-5 record.

Lenny Corso is the starting first baseman on the baseball team.

The New Abbot At Belmont Abbey

The Reverend Edmund F. McCaffrey, the newly elected chancellor of the College, feels the good fraternity reflects mankind's central values

HE Reverend Edmund F. McCaffrey, O.S.B., an alumnus of North Carolina Lambda at Belmont Abbey College, elected the fourth Abbot of the College on March 2, perceives the intrinsic values of brotherhood in a divine light.

The youthful abbot, who is also chancellor or chief governor of the College, by virtue of his election, stated at a recent rush smoker:

"In recent years an air of pessimism has developed in some quarters about the future of fraternities. Such an outlook distorts reality, as ours is a vital age, an age of concern, and an age in which men are seeking stable values and a balanced notion of love. Indeed, love is the key.

"Is not the essence of brotherhood love and genuine concern for one's fellowman? The symbol and spirit of Sigma Phi Epsilon reflects this vital modern concern and therefore with hand and heart let us seek this goal in unity. Then we need not have any fear of the future of Sigma Phi Epsilon or the fraternity system. Our very reason of being reflects the central values of mankind."

Such belief in brotherhood must give strength to all the young men who seek an education at this College.

Abbot Edmund was instrumental in the founding of the Hibernian Social Society, the ancestor of North Carolina Lambda, having served as the original faculty adviser of the Hibernians. He was initiated into Sigma Phi Epsilon October 18, 1968, and has been active in fraternity affairs.

A monk of the Order of St. Benedict, Abbot Edmund received his education at Belmont Abbey Preparatory School, and graduated from Belmont Abbey College in 1955 with the B.A. in philosophy. He received the S.T.B. from Belmont Abbey Seminary, then went on to take his master's and Ph.D. at the Catholic University of America, Washington, D.C.

Prior to his election, Abbot Edmund served as chairman of the Department of Political Science at Belmont Abbey College and was teaching international relations, foreign policy, and political theory. He hopes to continue teaching at least one class so as to be able to stay in touch with the students.

Belmont Abbey was founded in 1876 by monks from St. Vincent's Archabbey in Latrobe, Pa. The foundation was made an Abbey in 1884. In June, 1910, Belmont Abbey was raised to the dignity of an Abbey Nullius, the only Nullius in the United States. An Abbey Nullius is a unique ecclesiastical division under the jurisdiction of the Abbot-Ordinary.

Father Kenneth Geyer, North Carolina Lambda's popular chapter counselor, has pointed out that St. Benedict, who died in 1947, centered supreme attention on the same words of New Testament Scripture that Carter Ashton Jenkens selected upon which to base the entire structure of the Fraternity at Richmond in 1901.

Indiana Tech's Marvelous Igloo

The Sig Eps build an Eskimo hut as a joke and teach themselves a lesson in the psychology of values

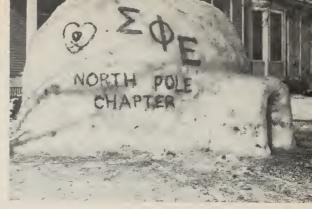

By GEORGE BOULTER

Out of the snow covering the Sig Ep front lawn at Indiana Tech, there arose a strange dwelling one day during Christmas break. To the people traveling along the street in front of the house, the new structure resembled a shelter used by people in the frozen North. In fact, here was the igloo of the "North Pole chapter" of Sig Ep.

What started out to be a snow removal project turned out to be a weekend of ice sculpturing for Brad Molnar, Dave Burkett, Rocky Peters, and Bob McAlpine. The erectors of the igloo wanted to have a Christmas gift for the rest of the brotherhood when they returned from Christmas break. Little did they know that the object they were creating would become a center of curiosity for the entire community.

Indiana Tech's mascot, Samantha Epsilon: "You can have your igloo, I'll stay here."

The North Pole Chapter received many visitors.

Built as a sort of joke, the little igloo proved to be a stellar attraction. Motorists on their way to work each morning viewed the Eskimo house and told others about it. Articles appeared in the local newspapers about the "Icemen of Indiana Tech." On television, viewers watched 52 people jam themselves inside the ice house to start a new college craze called "Igloo stuffing." Attracted by such publicity, hordes of small school children descended on the Sig Ep house to view the igloo, both inside and out. The brothers welcomed the little tykes and served hot chocolate to all who came.

It is hard to say why the igloo had the effect that it did. The brothers were completely overwhelmed by the attention that it drew. One thing is certain—it did have a positive effect on the Sig Eps. It helped them in rush by showing rushees one side of Sig Ep life. Community relations were improved by hosting the small children from nursery and public schools. There was also an intangible property connected with the igloo that the brothers could feel. It was a sense of pride in something that the entire brotherhood was responsible for, and the feeling of unity that becomes apparent when all the brothers are together and have one goal in common.

Finally the igloo began to deteriorate and melt away, and everyone was sad to see it go. However, the spirit that it left behind will remain with the brothers and in their memory for a long time.

Oklahoma Sig Eps Begin Comeback

Roger Strube, Headquarters expert on rush, and Ron Overley as alumni counselor form a nucleus of able men who are rebuilding the chapter

By CHARLES N. WHITE, JR.

DIRECTOR OF CHAPTER SERVICES

Staff Representative Roger Strube (left) provided the know-how and salesmanship to reform chapter at Oklahoma with men shown; Ron Overley, Kansas State, is Counselor.

THIS fall Oklahoma Beta Chapter at the University of Oklahoma was in a very weak position, probably near death. If Sigma Phi Epsilon was to remain at Oklahoma, an effective rush program had to be developed, and it had to be geared to the undergraduate who wanted to be involved in building a new fraternity chapter. The rush program at Oklahoma was developed and implemented by Staff Representative Roger L. Strube. Roger is the staff expert on rush, and was given full responsibility for starting Oklahoma Beta on its way.

Realizing that he could not become a permanent resident at Oklahoma, Roger located an alumnus, Ron W. Overley, Kansas State, to serve as counselor to the new pledges.

Ron, a former chapter president, worked with the men Roger pledged, and served as their educator, adviser, confidant, and friend. He spent uncountable hours with the new pledges and steered them through their apprenticeship to initiation which was held on February 15, 1970, at the Oklahoma State chapter house.

The new Oklahoma Beta Chapter is under the leadership of Steve Plumbtree, president; David May, vice-president; Kelly Clark, controller and Rick Wager, secretary. The rush chairman is Rick Piper. Other members of the chapter are: Patrick Carr, Charles Tope, Richard Ashford, Craig Smith, Tom Read, George Zeito, Glenn Walters, Charles Piper, Robert Sturdivan, Phillip Humble, Keith Heil, and Douglas Rogers. Tom Zongker, a former president of the chapter, is still participating and has been a big help to the new chapter.

Phi Epsilon, the group which received a charter as Oklahoma Beta on June 1, 1946, did not lack workmanlike and generous alumni backing during the early years. The group came into being through the leadership of Thompson G. Sexton, Oklahoma State, an executive in the State Office of Education. The nucleus of alumni with whom he worked included V. G. Edmondson, Iowa, Leslie H. Rice, Missouri, Robert J. Smith, Lawrence, and Harry Synar, Oklahoma State. The charter members were all outstanding campus leaders.

Through the years men were pledged and initiated who brought renown until recently.

In the fall the chapter's future was questionable. Now through a team effort, Head-quarters staff and alumni support, the chapter is on its way, and a continued team effort will be necessary to build chapter strength and build a new chapter house.

The team has been enlarged to include the undergraduates, and with these three key elements—undergraduate desire, alumni support, and Headquarters guidance—Oklahoma Beta will succeed.

Research conducted on chapters that have been restored to strength after near-death reveals, first, that if a chapter is dying and is left alone, it will die. Naturally it must have help. The places of the men who have failed must be taken by men who have the ability and will to succeed as a brotherhood. In cases where a study has been made, the two catalytic factors that restore success are seen to be alumni support and Headquarters guidance and help. The feat is to attract men of sufficient number who will do the job and back them up to see that the goal is accomplished.

If you are in an undergraduate chapter and feel alumni support is lacking or deficient, please let Headquarters know your feelings. The Headquarters staff will help to enlist support from nearby alumni. If you are an alumnus and wish to work with an undergraduate chapter, you are encouraged to contact the chapter directly or write to Headquarters for more information.

At White House for March of Dimes

Maryland Sig Ep helps launch program

Maryland chapter was one of 20 college students who attended a March of Dimes meeting at the White House January 23. Held in the Yellow Oval Room, it was hosted by Tricia Nixon, Honorary National Chairman of Youth Activities for the organization. Co-hostess was Kathy Garver, Youth Chairman, who stars in the CBS to series, Family Affair.

The students who were Miss Nixon's guests represented national collegiate organizations. Dutterer represented the National Interfraternity Conference.

The purpose of the meeting was to launch CAP, the College Action Program of the National Foundation-March of Dimes, which seeks to involve students in the organization's protest against birth defects through education, service and fund-raising projects.

Dutterer said, "College men and women are particularly concerned about improving the quality of life in the '70s. As parents of the next generation we have a very special stake in programs to prevent birth defects."

MEMPHIS 1970

Brothers will meet at the annual Academy on August 22-26 to exchange ideas, discuss trends, and participate in a new feature—SPEAKOUT

By DAVID E. LEMBACH

STAFF REPRESENTATIVE

As THE August sun lavishes its rays upon Highland Towers at Memphis State University, in Memphis, Tenn., Sig Eps from all over the country will be sitting in airconditioned comfort to assimilate all possible views and news about the Fraternity of today. During the days of August 22-26, brothers will be exchanging ideas and discussing trends which could range from communal living, to managing finances, to methods of building chapter manpower. In short, these undergraduates who are the real gears that mesh within the Fraternity, will be able to communicate and discuss almost any area they feel vital to their interests.

It's not all work though. There will be time for everyone to free-lance around Memphis, watch movies, or to participate in athletic events. This will be Sigma Phi Epsilon's 7th Annual Academy. For the sake of all participants and all those concerned, let me explain the difference between an Academy (held on even-numbered years) and a Grand Chapter/Academy (held on odd-numbered years.)

Every summer Sigma Phi Epsilon sponsors an Academy and Leadership School which is designed to educate the Fraternity's undergraduates, district governors, and chapter counselors on all phases of the Fraternity's operation. On even-numbered years, the program presented is one which is geared totally to the theme of education and learning about Sigma Phi Epsilon and fraternity life in general. This year we hope to see some actual ideas and programs presented by undergraduates which could help chart a course for the Fraternity to follow in future years.

In Memphis 1970, there will be classes and seminars dealing with the many areas of operation within the Fraternity. There will be a chance for frank communication between undergraduates and the Headquarters Staff, as well as with the National Board of Directors. The chances for communication in small groups and private conversation will always be available, but there will be one exercise in communication that will be available to all in attendance. This will be everyone's chance to really communicate eyeball-to-eyeball with the National Board of Directors and the Headquarters Staff. Watch for an event entitled SPEAKOUT.

SPEAKOUT will be everyone's chance to find out how the Fraternity's national leaders really view certain of the Fraternity's programs and policies. SPEAKOUT is not designed to be a confrontation or a name-calling session—it is designed to inform you. You can make SPEAKOUT what you want it to be. Its success depends on everyone's participation. You're free to talk about anything that's on your mind regarding the Fraternity.

The over-all goal of SPEAKOUT is to answer questions, to inform and clear up any misconceptions. It should follow that there will be continued good relations between undergraduates, alumni, the Headquarters Staff, and the National Board of Directors.

This year it is the hope of the National Leadership Committee (Fraternity leaders who coordinate the Academy), the Headquarters Staff and the National Board of Directors that the ideas, issues, and programs discussed and developed at "Memphis 1970" won't fade into the wilderness after August 26.

In the summer of 1971, the Fraternity will host its 32nd Grand Chapter/Academy (formally called a Conclave.) Along with the annual Academy and Leadership School, the Grand Chapter meets to change, add to or delete the Laws of the Fraternity. The Grand Chapter is the legislative body which determines Fraternity Law, policy, and direction. The bulk of the Grand Chapter's voting power lies with the undergraduate chapters. Each chapter is required to send a delegate and an alternate delegate to the 32nd Grand Chapter session. With such a large voting power, there are many things that undergraduates should be thinking about in terms of the 1971 Grand Chapter/Academy.

There is no reason why "Memphis 1970," and all academies, cannot be brainstorming sessions for charting the course for our Fraternity to follow in the coming years. The ideas and thoughts that are brought out this coming summer in Memphis can be nurtured by undergraduates during the 1970-71 academic year. By rallying support for constructive change within the Fraternity's national structure (as outlined in the Book of Laws) the undergraduates can put forth their efforts to set the Fraternity in any positive direction it should follow.

By taking full advantage of the opportunities offered in "Memphis 1970," both the undergraduate and alumnus can easily accomplish the following: he can learn about any area of Fraternity operation that may interest him; he can communicate with Sigma Phi Epsilon's leaders and listen to their views on Fraternity policy and direction; he can decide how he can do his part to change any area of the Fraternity he wants changed.

This summer will be a time for everyone who so desires to become involved in what this Fraternity is all about. There are opportunities to find out why certain policies are in effect and there will be competent people to show you how to set a new direction if one is needed. There are ways to find out what other chapters are doing and how you can improve your own operation.

The seeds are planted—it will take your all-out effort and active concern to reap the harvest.

Rallies Boost SPECTRA

Scholarships up 60 percent for 1970-71

The Foundation Trustees have proudly announced a 60 per cent increase in the number of scholarships awarded from the General Fund for the 1970-71 academic year. Thirteen $350 scholarships will be awarded. And, for the first time, runner-up awards of $50 each will be given to thirteen additional applicants. The scholarship winners and runners-up will be notified before summer break and their names will be announced in the September Journal.

The increase in scholarship awards is a direct result of the SPECTRA campaign, which enters its second year on an optimistic note. Sig Eps in Florida are conducting a statewide rally, with a goal of $150,000. Oklahoma City Sig Eps held their kickoff March 19, and Cleveland Sig Eps are meeting in a series of planned dinner rallies. The Mobile kickoff was held April 28, and Pittsburgh organization is under way. Atlanta and Dallas campaigns are picking up steam and the Cincinnati-Dayton area campaign is drawing to a successful conclusion.

The results of SPECTRA's first year have led Grand President J. E. Zollinger, National Chairman, to express his confidence that Sig Ep loyalty will assure the million-dollar goal. Noting that most giving so far has been on a one-time basis, he has urged all members to make commitments to the Foundation covering the years between now and 1976.

"This is a long-range program deserving long-range giving," he said. "I urge more of our 70,000 living alumni to make fair share pledges payable over the next three to five years. We have an exceptional opportunity to show our faith in the future and continue Sigma Phi Epsilon's enviable record of achievement. We can add a crowning touch to our 75th anniversary celebration in 1976 and assure our million-dollar goal by rallying now to support SPECTRA," he added.

More than 560 gifts and pledges have been received from undergraduate and alumni donors. Undergraduate chapters representing approximately 1,000 members and pledges have given over $7,000 to the campaign. Many undergraduates have made individual gifts. Members have allocated an estimated half-million dollars through wills and bequests. Complete information on methods of giving is available in the Foundation's brochure, or individual counsel is offered to any interested alumnus. All gifts to the Foundation are deductible in computing taxable income or estate taxes.

HEADQUARTERS HEARTBEAT

BY DONALD M. JOHNSON-EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

Unique Research Project The Boston University chapter house will be the scene for a remarkable experiment starting with the 1970-71 academic year. The chapter's alumni board has voted to let the Headquarters staff assume the chapter's operation and management in order to rebuild the chapter.

This chapter was chosen for the research project for several reasons. (1) The chapter probably would have folded without a transfusion. (2) The house is well located, in excellent condition, and highly adaptable for use in special programs. (3) The University is a typical urban campus with a large enrollment of liberal students, an environment often considered antagonistic to fraternities. In short, the right climate was available for putting into practice new concepts and programs specifically designed for the aggressive, modern fraternity chapter.

Many ideas will be tried in this human relationships experimental workshop. A B.U. faculty member and his wife can rent an apartment in the house, and he may be able to teach some of his classes in one of the large public rooms. The public rooms can be used also by the members to tutor or work with ghetto children. So-called traditional fraternity practices will change: new members will be recruited all year long, the pledge program will be truly educational and without hazing, and pledges will be assimilated quickly into the chapter instead of the chapter's being dichotomized through horizontal stratification.

What does the Fraternity hope to gain from this bold venture? At least five principal benefits are expected. (1) The chapter can be saved, demonstrating that everything possible is tried before giving up a chapter. (2) Familiarity will be gained with the real problems of operating a chapter on an urban campus; much has been said but little is really known about these problems. (3) What is learned at B.U. can be applied at chapters at other urban situations (Pennsylvania, Temple, M.I.T., Buffalo, Detroit, to name a few). (4) At least some of the new concepts and programs can be applied at all or nearly all other chapters. (5) Regenerated enthusiasm by Boston area alumni is bound to result; they will participate in this program, as well as using the chapter house for Boston Alumni Chapter meetings.

The entire program will be directed by Staff Representative David E. Lembach. Dave is well qualified for this special responsibility, having worked with the northeast chapters for a year while doing research on urban campus problems. He will be living in the chapter house much of the time and from there also operating the regional office to provide full services to the chapters in the northeast province. We congratulate Dave on accepting this unique challenge.

Summer School Student members from selected chapters will be attending special classes this summer at Headquarters. The Fraternity's professional staff will serve as faculty for initial classes on Rushing and for Chapter Management classes to be offered in the second section of the school. The summer school is an innovation this year, designed for intensive work under ideal conditions on particular subjects of greatest need. This new service to members was proposed by the Staff Representatives who deserve much credit for conducting this challenging program.

Board of Directors Meeting The annual meeting of the National Board of Directors is set for May 22-24 at Sigma Phi Epsilon Headquarters in Richmond.

The eight-member Board is the supreme authority between the biennial Grand Chapter sessions. The Board sets policy and performance standards, elects officials, approves budgets, authorizes special projects and studies, reviews chapter operations, approves legal matters—in short, the Board provides dynamic leadership for all Fraternity operations. Any member in good standing is eligible to attend the Board meetings.

The eight National Directors are volunteer workers who receive no pay for their many hours of devoted service; they are reimbursed only for actual travel expenses while on Fraternity business.

The theme for the annual meeting might well be "Charting Sigma Phi Epsilon's course for the 1970's." Special reports will be presented on Grand Chapter financial performance and projections in light of the dollar's loss in purchasing power, and an analysis of present and future equipment needs (the 100,000th Sig Ep will be initiated in about two years). Discussions will be held on campus trends and their influences on the fraternity system. The packed agenda attests to the great amount of work to be done at this important meeting.

Publications A NEW edition of the Fraternity's Book of Laws has been published and distributed to chapters and officials. This fourteenth edition includes all changes made in the laws since 1965; although there were few changes, the new edition was needed because inventory of the thirteenth edition (1965) was virtually exhausted.

Sigma Phi Epsilon and Scholarship is scheduled for early publication with distribution in the fall. This completely new publication replaces the Scholarship Guide; National Director T. R. Porter, editor, was assisted in writing the new manual by Richard E. Pahre, Robert H. Ewalt, Edwin M. Kaiser, and Donald E. Kindle.

Thirteen operational guides are printed at Headquarters for use by chapters and officials. It is a time-consuming task to write and print a guide; even though 1,000 copies of each guide are printed, it is difficult to keep all the guides in stock and up to date (consider, for instance, how quickly things change on today's campus!). Four of the guides will be revised and printed this summer: Rushing Guide, Pledge Educators Guide, Manual on the Journal, and Officers Guide.

One free copy of each guide is sent to chapters and officials; additional or replacement copies are available at $2 each from Headquarters.

What Leaders of Other Fraternities Are Saying

STEPHEN J. CHADWICK, Phi Gamma Delta: "What is a fraternity program? It is the means for accomplishing a goal. It can be the course that is taken to attain an office in the student government. It can be a practice schedule for intramurals. It can be a system for pledge study. It can be a committee working for better graduate relations, for social service or many other goals. If you were to take a close look at our Ritual, you would not only find the ideology behind the many goals of fraternity efforts, but you would also find the ideology behind the means or the programs that fraternities should be pursuing."

FREDERICK D. KERSHNER, Jr., Delta Tau Delta, in The Rainbow: "In a very real sense, pledge education is simply orientation to fraternity, to campus, and to life. Here undergraduate interest is keen. Undergraduates do not want merely pledge orientation to the organization—that's old stuff—but pledge orientation to mature living. They want to know what fraternity really means, what it is good for, whether it will help our moral confusion about how to live."

Sig Epic Achievement

Roger Gilbertson, Georgia Tech, appointed director of Department of Commerce agency.

Allan R. Ferguson, Delaware, promoted to executive engineering post by J. & J.

VOCATIONAL AND PROFESSIONAL ACHIEVEMENTS IN BRIEF

ROGER GILBERTSON, Georgia Tech, has been named director of the office of State Technical Services. The office is a line agency of the U.S. Department of Commerce and operates a program designed to transfer the findings of science usefully into the hands of American enterprise. The program gives Federal grants to the States for that purpose. Gilbertson has been District Governor of the Chesapeake Bay District and is a past president of the District of Columbia Alumni Chapter.

ALLAN R. FERGUSON, Delaware, '65, who joined the Permacel Division of Johnson & Johnson as an assistant project engineer in 1965, has been promoted to manager of engineering of the division. An active participant in the high school career guidance program of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers, he is studying for a master's in business administration at Fairleigh Dickinson University.

WILLIAM G. TRAGOS, Washington U. (Mo.), '56, is one of a group of key advertising executives recently interviewed in Europe by the magazine Business Abroad.

Tragos, director in France for one of America's top-ranking advertising agencies, Young & Rubicam, believes that advertisers and agencies must find ideas "that allow you to appeal across borders to a U.S.A. of Europe."

Tragos, who was once an administrative executive at Sig Ep headquarters, doesn't believe it is necessary for a company to have a different advertising manager for different countries. "One decision made at one time saves money in media," he says. Young & Rubicam's key, he feels, is more and more professional marketing research in all countries. "We bring in international teams to decide and handle multi-national campaigns."

Some ideas which have "across the border appeals" are still pretty new for Europeans. Tragos observed that while French bosoms may be smaller than Dutch or German, basic appeals will make all women respond—borders or no borders. And Y & R should know—not only because the agency has been in Europe a long time, but also because Y & R has found that their Playtex advertisements developed in the United States work very well in Europe too.

Sometimes, said Tragos, you find yourself thinking about the international versus the national beard. Y & R has a special interest in beards—it handles Remington Rand. But "shaving is an international problem—getting that darned beard off. And Italian beards are not much different from the French or Belgian."

DONALD H. HORST, Colorado, trust officer of the Colorado National Bank, Denver, since

John A. Englemann, Kansas State, sales manager of Oswalt Division of Butler.

1964, has been named vice-president. He is a member of the Colorado State Legislature.

JOHN B. DORSEY, Richmond, has been appointed manager of industrial construction products of Johns-Manville Corp., New York. He joined the J-M Industrial Insulations Division in 1956 as a salesman and has held a number of field sales positions in Georgia, North Carolina, and Virginia. He came to New York in 1964 as product manager, Commercial Fiber Glass and Spintex Pipe and Duct Insulation. In 1968, he was made product group manager for aerospace products and most recently held the post of product group manager for aerospace and general equipment insulations.

JOHN A. ENGELMANN, Kansas State, has been appointed sales manager of the Oswalt Division of Butler Manufacturing Company, responsible for all sales activities on Oswalt cattle feeding equipment. He will be based in Garden City, Kan.

He joined Butler in 1966, after serving in various sales capacities with Remington Rand and the Imco Container Corp. Since 1967, he has been field representative for Butler's Agri-Products Division in eastern Nebraska.

Anthony S. Condeni, Terre Haute, named a personnel engineer by U. S. Steel Corp.

John Engelmann is governor of District 20b, which includes the Morningside, Nebraska, Omaha, and Kearney State chapters.

BARRY C. TRADER, Denver, has resigned his post as reporter for military and space affairs at Station KOA, Denver, Colo., to become director of information at the Air Reserve Personnel Center in Denver. His duties will include direction of a nationwide Air Reserve information training program.

EVENTS OF DISTINCTION IN THE EDUCATIONAL FIELD

WILLIAM M. GORDON, Miami (Ohio), '57, assistant professor of teacher education at his alma mater, was chosen as one of Miami's ten "most outstanding and effective teachers" in a student poll.

Dr. Gordon was honored at a recent Miami Charter Day Convocation. He taught elementary reading in Miami's 1966 summer session and returned as a fulltime faculty member in 1968. He received his Ph.D. at Indiana.

Of the nine alumni trustees of Ohio Northern University four are Sig Eps: ROBERT W. BIGGS, president of the Brush Beryllium Co., Cleveland; EARL F. BOYLE, a former vice-president of Johns-Manville now retired; JOSEPH E. MARMON, vice-president of Eli Lilly & Co.; and LAURENCE N. WOODWORTH, chief of staff of the Congressional Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation, Washington, D.C.

LYNN WILLIS, San Diego State, a doctoral student in pharmacology at the University of Iowa, has persuaded the faculty of the University to institute a course on narcotics that is attracting widespread attention in other institutions also.

Willis, a San Diego pharmacologist, feels that students want to know and should know precisely what happens to the human body when drugs are taken.

The unusual course includes instruction in specific classes of narcotics, antibiotics, contraceptives, drugs affecting the nervous system, hallucinogens, and poisons. Twelve team instructors teach through lectures and classroom discussion.

GLENN R. SWETMAN, Southern Mississippi, '57, head of the department of English at Nicholls State College, Thibodaux, La., has been named to the International Who's Who in Poetry, the twelfth edition of Who's Who in the South and Southwest, and the Directory of Young American Poets.

Dr. RICHARD W. THOMPSON, Rutgers, '63, has been appointed to two top administrative posts at the University of Alabama Medical Center: director of the newly created Department of Management Research and Development of Hospitals and Clinics and assistant director of the School of Health Services Administration.

Dr. Thompson received his M.S. and Ph.D. degrees in hospital and health administration at the University of Iowa.

DUNCAN M. COCKE, William and Mary, '32, senior vice-president of Colonial Williamsburg, Inc., has been named a charter member of the new 15-member Advisory Council of the School of Business Administration at his alma mater.

The School was established in February, 1968, after it had been a department.

HERMAN E. KROOSS, Muhlenberg, professor of economics at N.Y.U., was named Man of the Year by the N.Y.U. graduate school of business administration alumni association.

JOE E. ROCERS, Indiana, '61, a teacher of biology and coach in the Muncie, Ind., community schools, received the 1969 Leffler Award for outstanding service to the church community. The award is given by the Delaware County Council of Churches.

Charles J. Lawson, Nebraska, '54, has received an Army award for achievement.

Capt. Roy T. Baker, South Carolina, pilot of the world's largest aircraft.

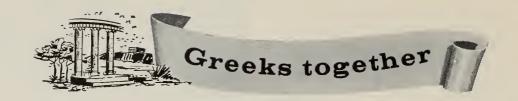

UPWARD AND ONWARD IN THE MILITARY

CAPT. ROY T. BAKER, South Carolina, has been chosen as a pilot for the world's largest aircraft, the C-5 Galaxy, huge jet transport that experts say will revolutionize military air transportation. Captain Baker is learning how to navigate the Galaxy at Altus AFB, Okla.

MAJ. DEAN E. DETAR, Iowa State, '54, Skyraider pilot with the 56th Operations Wing in Southeast Asia, recently received a third award of the Distinguished Flying Cross. He was cited at Da Nang AB, Vietnam, for his courageous defense of an allied team during a mission in which he overcame heavy enemy resistance and flew in growing darkness over mountain terrain to aid beleaguered groups. He led Army heliborne replacements to the site, having knocked out 18 enemy fortifications. He had previously won the Air Medal four times for aerial achievement.

CHARLES J. LAWSON, Nebraska, '55, is with the Army in Japan in a federal civil service assignment. He received a master's degree in government at Indiana University in June, 1969, and returned to his assignment in Japan after completing his studies.

CAPT. DAVID SHAFFER, Washington State, B-52 Stratofortress bomber navigator in Vietnam, has received the D.F.C.

TAX BILL AMENDMENT A "LIFESAVER"

In the final quarter of 1969 the team effort of dedicated fraternity leaders prevented passage of a tax reform bill that would have been disastrous for the Greek-letter system. Many deserve credit, but most of all NIC President Zeke Loffin, of $\Theta\Xi$, who spearheaded the appeal to Senator Russell B. Long, Δ K E, chairman of the Senate Committee on Finance. A number of executive secretaries and friends of fraternities gave countless hours of their time. The good will of our nation's Senators and Congressmen tipped the balance in favor of the American college fraternity system.

By early August, the House had already passed the bill—HR 13270—which would have imposed a corporate tax of 48 per cent on investment income "used to finance the social activity of members of social clubs and similar groups."

In his letter to Senator Long, Dr. Loslin pointed out that the activities of today's college fraternities "are overwhelmingly directed toward educational, charitable and public welfare objectives."

Following a series of conferences in Washington in which a number of leaders took part, it was agreed to engage a law firm to draft an amendment and present appropriate written testimony at a Senate Finance Committee hearing.

It was arranged for Dr. Frank A. Rose, K A Order, former president of the University of Alabama, to represent the NIC at the hearings.

On October 24, the Senate Finance Committee voted without dissent to adopt the amendment. On December 12 the Senate passed the bill that included the amendment; on December 16 the Joint House-Senate Committee approved the amendment; on December 18 the House and Senate approved the amended bill; and several days later President Nixon, Φ A Δ , signed it into law.

Dr. Loflin's letter of testimony, dated October 8, constituted a disarmingly honest and highly expert description.

"College fraternities at the local level provide," he wrote, "at no extra cost to the educational institutions, housing and meal facilities for students and thereby relieve, to that extent, the educational institutions from a major capital commitment and on-going operating expense and burden. In this respect the fraternities clearly subsidize the educational institutions themselves.

"Additionally at the local level and strongly supported by the national organizations, they provide a focus of disciplinary and supervisory control over students which, it is submitted, is far more effective in the overall than can be provided by the universities for students living in university facilities or off campus, as is increasingly prevalent in the larger universities.

"Furthermore, they exercise strong pressure to raise scholastic achievements and assist by furnishing guidance and assistance and, has been shown, are highly effective in raising the scholastic performance of their member students.

"College fraternities are increasingly engaged in organized efforts in student loans, scholarship awards, and other welfare and charitable undertakings. These are important and should be fostered for their own sake. Additionally, they are important for their role in inculcating our youth with the sense of responsibility which the more fortunate members of our society should have toward those less fortunate."

To tax the investment income of fraternities, he asserted, would be to curtail seriously if not to force the abandonment of many beneficial educational projects. These included student loans, chapter house loans, scholarship awards, libraries, tutors in residence, the leadership school, and countless philanthropies for the benefit of the disadvantaged. To reduce such programs, or perhaps eliminate them altogether, "would be a most unfortunate and unwise result, and we strongly urge that no such tax be imposed," he concluded.

INTER-GREEK NOTES

SIGMA PI has awarded Sigma Phi Epsilon's past Grand President Bedford W. Black a certificate of appreciation. He was given the certificate "in recognition of his successful efforts in obtaining approval for the reactivation of Sigma Pi Fraternity's Mother Chapter at Vincennes University, Vincennes, Indiana."

The Alpha Chapter of Sigma Pi was reactivated on February 26, 1965, after 55 years of inactivity, after Black, who was chairman of the NIC Law Committee, recommended such an action, although since Vincennes was a junior college an amendment of the NIC bylaws was required to permit it.

Authorization to beget Sigma Pi's Alpha anew was a happy act. Students graduating from Vincennes and continuing their education at a nearby four-year institution have spearheaded the establishment or rejuvenation of chapters at Murray State, Ball State, Indiana State, and Purdue. Writes Executive Secretary James L. Hills:

"We find the type of students at Vincennes to be more loyal, devoted, sincere, and more appreciative of their elders than some of the students that are found today at U.C.L.A., Berkeley, Kenyon, and other campuses."

The history of a social Greek-letter organization known as $\Delta\Delta\Sigma$, founded at the University of Utah in 1936, provides a helpful footnote to an account of coeducational influence in fraternity life.

Established by 15 young men as a coeducational fraternity under the sponsorship of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, $\Delta\Delta\Sigma$ operated until 1967, with parallel chapters—one a man's and the other a woman's—within the same organization. During that year a group registered a protest that " $\Delta\Sigma$ in its coeducational structure was not adequately meeting the needs expressed by many of those who were participating in it." As a consequence, officers of the organization restructured it as a sorority—as the domain of sorority women exclusively—while a separate organization, a men's fraternity to be known as ΣTX , was set up for the men.

Chapters of $\Lambda\Delta\Sigma$ exist on some 30 campuses in the western United States. Their motto: "Toward excellence in body, mind, and spirit."

The last existing chapter of the American Commons Club, founded at Denison University in 1921, became a chapter of ΔX on September 25, 1969.

Founded originally as a "nonfraternity," the Commons Club sought to make available to all unaffiliated male students the advantages of fraternity life. The four stated principles of the fraternity were Democracy, Brotherhood, University First, and the Open Door. Today the roster includes 18 dead chapters, none alive.

Three NIC member fraternities—ZBT, $\Phi\Sigma\Delta$, and $\Phi\Xi\Pi$ —have become unified as Zeta Beta Tau Fraternity, Inc.

BIRTHDAYS

The Purdue chapter observed its 65th anniversary at a banquet which a number of alumni attended, including Dan Robert Barkus, Ball State '64, faculty adviser, and Prof. Dave Clark, '19, former faculty adviser. A birthday cake was shaped like the Sig Ep coat of arms. Brothers wore purple and red ribbons with their pins.

Kansas State Sig Eps celebrated the 52nd birthday of the chapter at a Founders' Day meeting and Golden Heart Ball on February 21. A corporate meeting was held in the afternoon and the new officers were introduced to the Alumni Board and gave short reports. After the meeting the alumni and chapter retired to the recently completed State Room for refreshments and informal discussion. Many alumni attended the Golden Heart Ball that evening and a buffet the following day.

OTHER GET-TOGETHERS AND EVENTS

Alabama undergraduates entertained the alumni at the annual Spring Alumni Banquet in March. The new chapter officers were introduced and plans for a proposed house addition were discussed.

The Arkadelphia Alumni Chapter annual meeting was held March 21. Elected were: president, Bob Connell; vice-president, Dean McCormack; secretary, John Bell; treasurer, Doug Drake.

The Central Arkansas Alumni Chapter met for a meeting on January 29. John Stanley hosted the affair at the new Capital Club atop the new Worthen Bank Building. Everyone who attended enjoyed the plush surroundings and beautiful view.

Discussed by the group was the SPECTRA Campaign, 1969 Conclave, and a future banquet for 1970. New officers were elected as follows: president, Houck Reasoner, Arkansas State, '55; vice-president, Marvin Zimmerman, Arkansas State, '67; treasurer, John Ramsey, Arkansas, '63; secretary, Tim Irby, Arkansas, '67.

The next regular meeting was set to be a dinner meeting at the Country Club of Little Rock, the date to be announced.

The Chico State chapter is honored to have as a member of its local alumni board Al Peters, who recently received his Golden Card from Montana Alpha for 50 years of active participation in Sig Ep affairs.

Cleveland State Sig Eps began their drive to raise funds for the new $50,000 addition to the house with an alumni dinner. The dinner was given by Chapter Counselor Chuck O'Neal, and was held in the remodeled dining room. The room is decorated to resemble a nineteenth-century rural American restaurant. The purpose of the dinner was to introduce the new room, which is primarily for alumni relations, and to get the new addition started. The response was favorable.

Members of the Dallas Alumni Chapter have planned a party for graduating Sig Eps for the four-state region some time in June.

Recent activities include the New Year's champagne party, contribution of funds for rush at North Texas State, and a party in Dallas for North Texas pledges and their dates.

Don Raburn, manager of industrial development for the Dallas Power and Light Co., is president.

East Tennessee State alumni enjoyed a buffet with the chapter after the Homecoming game October 25. The Alumni at their quarterly meeting, after contributing to the housing fund, elected Randy Webb as new president, Fred Walton, vice-president; Jerry Tucker, secretary; and John Albright, treasurer. Sunday, the alumni defeated the active chapter in an enjoyable but muddy football game. Plans are being made for a basketball game, a spring buffet, and the annual softball game. Alumni will also be returning for the spring formal May 23.

At Huntington, W. Va., the alumni association of the Marshall chapter has elected new officers as follows: Ken Gainer, president; David Singleton, vice-president; John Kirtley, secretary; Gordon Crosson, treasurer.

The program for 1970 includes the April Social at the Little Switzerland Brewing Co.; Spring Dance at the Riverside Club on May 30; picnic and golf outing in August; and Homecoming Weekend

October 24-25.

Indiana State Sig Eps recently participated in the annual Campus Revue with nearly 50 alumni in attendance. The event was followed by a party which most of the alumni attended.

Indiana Tech undergraduates sponsored an active-alumni basketball game on January 25. The purpose of the tournament was to bring the alumni back for a big get-together, and to afford the undergraduates and the graduates an occasion for natural fellowship. It worked. Twenty-five alumni returned from near and far to participate in and watch the game. The actives also had a good turnout and furnished three teams, but the "old alums" were too good for the "young whippersnappers." A party that evening provided relaxation for all involved.

This spring an undergraduate-Alumni golf or softball tournament is planned.

—George Boulter

The 12th Annual Kansas City Alumni Basketball Tournament is an outstanding experience. On a clear day in Overland Park, Kan., nine chapters, seven from Kansas and two from Missouri, matched their outstanding teams. The action took place in Shawnee Mission South High School.

The fracas began promptly at 12:30 P.M., on three courts, with six professional referees and three timekeepers. The next four hours produced air-splitting sounds, leather ripping through netting, condemning shrill whistles of referees, the moans of the defeated, and the wild cheering of the victors.

Fort Hays nudged Central Missouri State 59-44. Baker tilted Washburn 32-31. Emporia zaped Drury 40-37. Round 2. Kansas State tripped Baker 44-27. Kansas University rapped Wichita State 40-29. Round 3: Fort Hays rapped Kansas State 54-46. Emporia outflexed Kansas University 34-31.

Championship final: Fort Hays outgunned Emporia 40-35 and bagged the 1970 championship for the second consecutive year.

Co-captains of Guilford College basketball team receives Naismith-Liston sportsmanship award from Ken VanScoy, Nebraska, president of the Kansas City Alumni Chapter.

Each team was supported by as many as 40 chapter members and Golden Hearts. Credit for preparation and planning go to Kansas City Chapter Alumni; President Ken Van Scoy, Vice-president Walt Thomas, Secretary-treasurer, Gary Nagel, Dick Southall, publicity, Jean Fisher.

Brother Bob Johnson, principal of Shawnee Mission South, obtained access to the tremendous athletic facilities offered by his outstanding school. Brother Johnson, Kansas, originated the Greater Kansas City alumni tournament twelve years ago. He also assisted Liston and Naismith in the development of the NAIA tournament which today has become the top college tournament in the U.S.

Dr. Gene Haas assisted in securing the trophies. He also coordinated information obtained from officials in determining the winner.

The NAIA tournament this year began on March 9 and ended March 14 at the Kansas City Municipal Auditorium.

The Sigma Phi Epsilon award for sportsmanship is offered in memory of Dr. James Naismith, originator of basketball, and Emil S. Liston, originator of the NAIA tournament. Both of these great men we proudly acclaim as brothers in Sigma Phi Epsilon. The Naismith-Liston Sportsmanship Award carries great prestige among tournament awards and trophies. Dr. Naismith, it will be remembered, originated the game of basketball at Y.M.C.A. College, Springfield, Mass., in 1891

The 1970 presentation was made by the alumni chapter president to the team who placed fourth in the tournament, Guilford College, Greensboro, N.C. The trophy a beautiful gold, full-sized, bas-

Members of the Kansas City Alumni Chapter elected as new officers on January 13 K. E. Van Scoy, president, and Gary A. Nagel, secretary-treasurer (both for a second term). Also Walter R. Thomas, vice-president; Wesley N. Eastwood, director of publicity; Dr. Ralph L. Messer, sergeant at arms, and William C. Marshall, entertainment chairman.

Kansas State Sig Eps chose Ross W. Stice, '22, the 41st initiate of the chapter, as their Outstanding Alumnus. The award is in memory of Dennis G. Henning and is given to honor alumni for their devoted service over the years. Brother Stice has served many years on the local alumni board and manages the chapter's John R. MacArthur Fund for loans to members.

At Los Angeles, a special ceremony was conducted at the California Club on January 27 for the purpose of presenting the Fraternity's Citation Award "for distinguished service in his profession" to Daniel P. Bryant, Oregon State, president of the Bekins Co. and Bekins Moving & Storage Co., of Los Angeles, Calif., and prominent community leader. The award was announced at the Dallas Conclave but Brother Bryant was unable to be present.

Past Grand Presidents Paul B. Slater and Luis J. Roberts made the presentation.

Marshall alumni plan their annual spring party on Memorial Day weekend. Alumni board officers recently elected are Ken Gainer, president; David Singleton, vice-president; John Kirtley, secretary; and Gordon Crosson, treasurer. Sig Ep alumni from the Maryland chapter met for a cocktail party March 20. Marty Ryan, Mark Anderson, Mark Fields, Mike McMahon, and District Governor Robert Lynch were among those present.

Michigan, the Alumni Board met March 23 to decide the fate of the present house. It was decided to remodel all rooms, the electrical system, and the heating system. Hopefully this can be completed over the summer break. The board also decided to fund a summer rush program so that those who are going to be studying here over the summer can actively rush orientation freshmen.

An important alumni meeting has been scheduled for May 11 at the house, and all are welcome to attend.

Michigan Tech Sig Eps are having their first annual Alumni Banquet on Memorial Weekend, May 30, at the Douglass House Hotel in Houghton. The Alumni Weekend will run in conjunction with their Sweetheart Ball and the school's Spring Fling. Dave Hatch is Alumni Relations chairman.

Ohio Wesleyan alumni returned to the chapter house at Delaware on May 9 for Monett Day weekend to honor a retired faculty brother, Ben Spencer, for his long service to the University and loyalty to Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Events besides the banquet included a Saturday noon buffet luncheon at the house, followed by an alumni meeting, and an afternoon affair of interest to wives.

Phoenix Alumni Association elected new officers in February at a meeting at the Del Webb Townehouse in Phoenix. Elected were Win H. Brayer, president; K. Rod Gastineau, vice-president; Charles R. Bingaman, secretary; Larry L. Wilson, treasurer; and James Carl, member-at large. The March meeting included a presentation by Walter White, employment director of the Seventh Step Foundation, on prison life and rehabilitation efforts. Door prizes and raffles lend interest to the meetings and a monthly newsletter is in the offing for the future months.

-Ronald J. Paquin

The Portland Alumni Chapter has been meeting regularly on the fourth Friday of every month at noon for luncheon at the Hoyt Hotel, Portland. Attendance has ranged from 12 to 50 and all are invited to come.

—DICK ALLEN

Richmond alumni continue to have Friday luncheons at the Hotel John Marshall in the downtown area. Brother Ted Mack was a guest at a recent luncheon.

The annual Founders' Day dinner was held on February 21, 1970. Twenty-eight people attended the cocktail hour, dinner, and dance at a local country club.

Alpha Chapter plans to hold an initiation ceremony at Headquarters on March 15, which the local alumni have been invited to attend.

Old friendships were renewed and problems of the active chapter were discussed when the Richmond undergraduate chapter sponsored a smoker at the lodge for alumni on March 15. Refreshments were served.

Many alumni have been personally contacted in an attempt to increase interest in activities.

-DANIEL T. BALFOUR

Wisconsin Sig Eps held their second annual alumni-active volleyball match, February 27, at the Madison YMCA. The alumni avenged last year's 0.3 loss to the actives by trimming them 2-1. The actives are 4-0 in interfraternity volleyball competition.

Postgame activities included beer and relaxation back at the house.

The following alumni participated: Harland Klipstein, '49; Bill Lund, '49; Wil Walker, Colorado State, '49, Chuck Lehman, Miami, Ohio, '60.

East Tennessee's Project Avery

IN JANUARY, 1970, East Tennessee State Sig Eps sent a copy of their alumni newsletter to Robert Douglas Avery, '65. In due time the newsletter was returned by his mother with the news that her son's Marine aircraft had been shot down over North Vietnam in May, 1968. Whether Robert Douglas Avery was alive or dead no one knew. Moreover, the Viet Cong prohibits war prisoners from receiving outside communication.

Representatives of the chapter conferred with Doug's wife Grace and the decision was made to compose a letter to be sent to the North Vietnamese delegates to the Paris peace talks. The letter stressed that "Under provisions of the Geneva Convention, which your government endorsed in 1957, all prisoners should be given complete freedom to write to their families."

Three thousand copies of the letter, which were to be signed individually, were printed. Project Avery, as it was named, was endorsed by the IFC at East Tennessee State and every sorority. The plea for more humane treatment of all prisoners—though it would take time to discover full results of the project—received the heartfelt cooperation of every student and faculty member in the campus community.

good of the Order

ON THE ROAD

At Marshall, Staff Representative David Lembach presided over the discussion during the annual spring retreat of the members and pledges at Anthony Wayne Park.

Richard de la Houssaye, Memphis State, '70, was engaged as a Staff Representative following graduation from his alma mater in January. Ric served his chapter as IFC Representative, rush chairman, pledge educator, corresponding secretary, vice-president, and finally as president.

A dean's list student, he earned the B.S. degree in secondary education with a cumulative average of 2.91. He was a senator in student government, IFC rush chairman, IFC Greek Week chairman, and a member of Omicron Delta Kappa and Alpha Kappa Delta.

Ric participated in the 1968 Academy at Memphis State and the 1969 Dallas Conclave and Academy. His hobbies include water sports, hunting, traveling, and reading.

OFFICIAL FAMILY

Dr. Jack J. Early, Kentucky, national Ritual Chairman of the Fraternity, was formally inaugurated as president of Pfeiffer College on April 26 in a special ceremony in the Henry Pfeiffer Chapel, Misenheimer, N.C. This was preceded by a worship service in the chapel, a faculty-delegate luncheon, and an academic procession.

Steven R. Saunders, Washington and Lee, assistant national librarian, is leaving his teaching duties at Lawrenceville, N.J., in June and will assume the post of Assistant to the Supervisor of the Town of Oyster Bay, Long Island, for government planning and research.

EX-OFFICIAL FAMILY

Sig Eps entertained past Grand President Paul B. Slater, U.S.C., at the home of past Grand President Luis J. Roberts at Long Beach. Sherie McGrath, wife of Richard McGrath, Long Beach State, and daughter of Brother Roberts, baked the cake.

New District 22a Governor Thomas J. Russell.

Mark D. Wilkins, Oklahoma State, '30, successively a field secretary and assistant to the Grand Secretary from 1931-42, has been appointed as a loan officer for the Bank of Virginia, at Richmond, Va., West Broad Street office. He joined the bank in 1962 after a period of service of 20 years with the FBI as a special agent.

Dr. Richard Allen, field secretary for the Fraternity in 1958-59, has completed his residency in obstetrics and gynecology and has set up offices in Portland, Ore., in the Portland Medical Center Building. He is engaged in private practice and will also serve as a clinical instructor in his specialties at the University of Oregon Medical School.

DOINGS IN THE DISTRICTS

District 28 held a Leadership Conference on April 11, with Sacramento State as the host chapter. The executive committee and pledge educators from all the chapters were in attendance along with many brothers and pledges. Pledge education, operation of the chapter, finances, and plans for a District Banquet and Awards meeting were discussed.

While the brothers were attending their meeting, the Golden Hearts held their own meeting. This was an opportunity for the Golden Hearts from other chapters to compare notes.

After the conferences, the Golden Hearts made a picnic lunch and a party was held with the chapters in District 28, celebrating the Founder's Day of California Theta Chapter. The picnic and party was held in William Land Park with baseball games and football games between the actives and pledges and between the chapters.

The District 28 awards and banquet has been planned by Clay Stacey, Sacramento State, for May 15 in Sacramento.

Thomas J. Russell, Evansville, '69, new governor of District 22a, held many offices in his chapter. His district includes the chapters at Evansville, Ball State, Valparaiso, Indiana Tech, and Tri-State.

As an undergraduate he served his chapter as president, chaplain, activities chairman, and as a member of the rush committee and housing committee. He was also a member of the intramural swimming, tennis, and basketball teams. He attended the 1968 Academy at Memphis State. Campus activities included student government, student senate, dean of student's freshman orientation advisers, presidents' forum, and spring weekend steering committee.

Russell's occupation is band director with the Lafayette, Ind., school system. He is a member of the Indiana Music Educators Association, the Music Educators National Conference, and the Lafayette Education Association. Hobbies include athletics and tape recording.

He is unmarried and resides in West Lafayette at 400 North River Road.

Russell feels that the position of District Governor offers a man the opportunity to help the fraternities over the hurdle that the system now faces. He says: "I believe the fraternity is an institution that offers a man an opportunity to explore and find what his greatest potential is. I feel that the fraternity should as its prime goal work to find the potential of each member."

David R. Williams, Terre Haute, '65, has been appointed governor of District 22b, embracing the Purdue, Indiana, and Terre Haute chapters.

The recipient of an M.S. in education from his alma mater in 1968, Williams as an undergraduate was active in student government and participated in interfraternity athletics.

As an alumnus, he has begun his second fouryear term as a director of his chapter's alumni board and is serving his second year as president. He attended the Dallas Conclave in 1969.

Williams is a teacher in the Lafayette, Ind., school system, and an officer in the Educational Association of that city. He and his wife Gerry live at 2201 Osceola Drive, Lafayette. They have a year-old son, Matthew. David's hobbies include coaching basketball and football.

As an educator, he believes in the Greek system as a sound moral foundation for a young man to prepare for his future. He says: "The finest rusher for brotherhood and for Greeks that I know is my father, who, before my Sig Ep experience, was anti-Greek . . . and you know how hard it is to convert one of these!"

The new governor of District 35, Frank B. Mathews, Morris Harvey, '68, has his own newly installed chapter as well as the groups at West Virginia, Marshall, Davis and Elkins, and West Virginia Tech to look after.

A proven leader, Mathews was president of his group for three years—for two years during its local status and for one year during colony status—and he devoted much talent and effort to its development.

On campus, he was active in student government, IFC, the drama group, Heart Fund and Blood Bank, Cause Campaign of 1968-69, and the Republican Club. He was named to Who's Who, received the Morris Harvey Key Award, and was selected as the West Virginia Zeta Brother of the Year.

Since his graduation he has served as secretary of the chapter's alumni control board. He resides at Charleston, W.Va., where he is a teacher in the Jackson County school system. Favorite hobbies are tennis and fishing.

Mathews summarizes his philosophy of fraternity as follows: "In our ever busy world of today, men need to have affiliations with groups of men where they can come together for friendship and a common bond. My affiliation with Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity has to be one of the biggest events of my life. It bound me to a ritual with 90,000 other brothers. This is the whole idea of the fraternity system—a binding brotherhood built on love, virtue, and diligence."

William C. Bacher, Wisconsin State-Stevens Point, '58, has been appointed governor of District 41, in which are included his own chapter, the new colony at Wisconsin State-Superior, and the chapter at Michigan Tech.

As an undergraduate he served his chapter as controller and vice-president. Campus activities included men's glee club and the Student Center Board, of which he was president. He was also president of Sigma Zeta honor society. He is currently president of the alumni board of his chapter.

Bacher is a rate analyst in the group accident and health department of Employers Insurance Co. of Wausau. Hobbies include flying, photography, and curling. He is unmarried.

CHAPTER COUNSELORS

The Carroll Sig Eps initiated Julian Carey, '37, on April 6, 1970. An alumnus of Gamma Phi Delta, forerunner of Wisconsin Gamma, he has served many years on the alumni council and contributed much time to the construction of the present house. He became the 500th initiate of Wisconsin Gamma.

At Carroll, Paul Rempe recently became the new Chapter Counselor. He is a member of the History Department.

New District 22b Governor Daniel R. Williams.

Jeff Delancey is the Georgia chapter's new Chapter Counselor. Formerly an active brother of Georgia Delta, he has recently returned from Vietnam and is married.

Dennis Keihn, Ball State, '68, became the Chapter Counselor for Indiana Tech last December. He received his M.S. degree from Indiana University in 1969, and has started work for his doctorate at I.U. in physical education. He is the soccer, baseball, and volleyball coach at Tech.

Missouri-Rolla Sig Eps are delighted to have Leroy Thompson back in their midst. Brother

Thompson, chapter counselor from 1960 to 1966 while working on his master's in civil engineering, left to study for his Ph.D. at Rice University in 1966, and did not return until last fall. While at Rice he was honored as a Rice Scholar and as a fellow of the National Science Foundation. This year he was elected IFC adviser at Rolla.

Brother Thompson is a former engineer for Mc-Donnell Aircraft Co. and reached the rank of captain while serving in the Army Corps of Engineers.

He is now proving a tremendous help to the chapter in solving problems connected with building the new house.

REGIONAL REVELRY AND RIVALRY

District 5a recently held the first of what is hoped to be an annual Winter Sports Day. Atlantic Christian was the host chapter, and those chapters attending were North Carolina State University, North Carolina, Duke University, and East Carolina. The events, consisting of basketball, volleyball, bowling, and table tennis, began at one o'clock, February 14.

The scoring was done on a basis of total points from all of the events. The first place winner was N. C. Beta, second place went to N. C. Delta, third to N. C. Iota, fourth to N. C. Gamma, and fifth to N. C. Kappa. A trophy was presented to the Beta bowling team by Glascos Westview Lanes. Trophies were also awarded to the winners of the individual events. N. C. Beta won bowling, table tennis, and volleyball. N. C. Iota won basketball. A traveling trophy was awarded by Edward Cloyd, District Governor, in honor of his father who was a Sig Ep at N. C. State. The trophies were awarded at a banquet.

—George Cogdell

The Bradley chapter played host to the 11th annual Midwest Basketball Tournament on the weekend of March 20-21, with 10 teams seeing action. Culver-Stockton emerged as champions, Indiana took second, and Western Michigan third. Western Michigan also received the man-mile trophy for having the most brothers travel the farthest. Following the championship game a dance was held and the trophies presented.

Little Sisters in the Kansas chapters held their first state-wide meeting on March 2.

This action was initiated by the Kansas Beta chapter of the Sisters of the Golden Heart. Over 65 members were present, including representatives from every Kansas chapter except Wichita.

The program began with a luncheon in Kansas State University's Union ballroom. Guest of honor was District 13a Governor Howard James. He delivered a fine speech on the ideals and goals of Sigma Phi Epsilon as well as its sister organization. The general meeting gave each chapter the opportunity to express ideas and describe projects.

The second annual All-Ohio Sig Ep Basketball Tournament was held at Ohio State March 6, 7, and 8, with eight of the twelve Ohio Sig Ep chapters participating: Ohio State, Ohio Wesleyan, Baldwin-Wallace, Cincinnati, Toledo, Bowling Green, Kent State, and Youngstown. Held at three different gymnasiums in the Columbus area, the Ohio State brothers provided referees, scorers, and free housing for the visiting Sig Eps. Cincinnati won the consolation title and Toledo placed second, losing to champion Baldwin-Wallace in the finals. The starters for B-W were Tom Mack, Dennis Talty, Ken Cleeter, Mark Abramson, and Craig Mues.

Southern California Sig Eps held their annual Blue Mountain Blast jointly with the Long Beach State brothers.

The Southwest Missouri State and Drury chapters, both situated in Springfield, pooled their efforts to organize the Shamrocks for Dystrophy drive in the city and raised $700 of the $1,500 total collected. They were given the opportunity to meet some of the children afflicted with the disease.

Wake Forest Sig Eps hosted the North Carolina Sig Ep basketball tourney on February 28, with chapter teams from Davidson, Lenoir Rhyne, Belmont Abbey, University of North Carolina, Atlantic Christian, and Wake Forest participating. Wake Forest edged UNC 77-74 in the finals to become champions for the third consecutive year. That night, approximately 70 visiting brothers and their dates joined the Wake Forest Sig Eps at a combo party.

Meaning of Prayer

AT THIS TIME, when so many of life's values are being questioned, we are bound to wonder whether there is any value in prayer. What can we possibly gain through worship?

The answer is that when we worship we recognize God and feel that He recognizes us so that a divine companionship is formed.

We realize that God is in every human heart that reaches out for Him. Each of us seeks to communicate with God in the manner that suits our own personality, for individuality is precious.

God inspires lofty and purposeful sentiments. When we look upward, searching for some intimation of His power, we become conscious of His mystic presence—in ourselves and in all nature.

Prayer gives us complete ideal identification of self with God and His purpose with our lives. Through the relationship we are strengthened in spirit and in that lies the great value of prayer.

PLANS AND PROCEDURES FOR BETTER OPERATION

Colorado Mines Sig Eps sponsored a discussion on the relevance of the fraternity system on the changing campus. Those present included the president of the school and several faculty members. Nearly all agreed that the fraternities need to change their emphasis in regards to campus activities. They must take a more active interest in the affairs of the school, the community, and the nation.

The brothers have organized an environmental awareness program and are supervising the sending of letters to North Vietnam in an attempt to gain information about American prisoners of war.

At Cornell, Rev. J. Hepner, Penn State, head of the Inter-Faith Service of Cortland State University, led an open discussion on brotherhood with 40 members and 17 pledges. The after-dinner discussion is part of a new pledge program in which guest speakers are brought to campus to speak on aspects of fraternity life. The program was instituted this year by Donald MacKenzie, '72.

Detroit Sig Eps have instituted a Committee of Human Relations which will be concerned chiefly with drug use and abuse in the inner city of Detroit. The aim of this committee is to confront issues contemporary and important to the community of Detroit. Bob Gates is chairman.

Iowa Sig Eps in a symposium on Greek Relevance which was open to the public presented a panel which included a faculty member, a black fraternity man, an independent student, the IFC president, and the adviser to fraternities. Different ideas and criticisms arose through spirited discussion from both panel and audience. There was a general feeling that the Greek system does have a lot to offer if it can adjust by throwing away outdated traditions and developing a contemporary approach to student group living which allows independence to the individual student.

A Sig Ep Chair

Whether your home, office, or studio follows the so-called conventional or modern trend, this beautiful chair will lend itself in perfect harmony... for this chair, of northern birch and rock maple, hand-rubbed in black, with gold trim, has a proper place in the conventional or modern setting.

You have always admired this type of chair for its beauty in design and comfort... and now you may own one with that added "personal touch"... the Sigma Phi Epsilon coat of arms has been attractively silk screened, in gold, on the front of the chair.

With arms finished in black or in cherry wood (please specify), the price is $38.00—shipped to you from Gardner, Massachusetts. Express charges payable upon receipt. Please allow three weeks for delivery.

At Lehigh, Ken Helgeson, and two members of other fraternities have founded an organization known as the Fraternity Management Association (FMA). Lehigh has 31 fraternities.

Individual fraternities experience a cyclical pattern of good and poor management which affects the entire fraternity system. Lehigh has both property interests and legal and moral responsibility in the fraternities and necessarily must take an interest in their well-being. Finally it is recognized that the fraternity has practically unlimited potential to not only be self-sustaining but also to operate to the credit of the fraternity system. For these reasons the charge was given the IFC to develop a proposal for a uniform management program.

The Fraternity Management Association is expected to be in full operation by September, 1970. Supervision and surveillance of fire safety, health and sanitation, and maintenance standards is the first function. The management function is to insure, through an advisory and consultive role, that each chapter is operated on sound financial principles, policies, and procedures. The final function of the FMA is a voluntary cooperative food-buying program. Each of the three functions of the FMA are separately financed and budgeted. Also complete control of the FMA is in the hands of the Treasurers' Council, which was created from all chapter treasurers as the governing body.

Michigan Sig Eps have set up a rush program and six man committee to work on an extensive summer contact-rush program. IFC at Michigan will send out post cards to all incoming freshmen for the fall term, and those cards which come back will be put on file in the IFC offices. The rush committee will contact these men and invite them to an activity right after school starts. In this way, it is hoped that the freshmen can be reached before they arrive on campus, and before other elements influence them.

North Texas Sig Eps are distributing Humble credit card applications each of which is worth twenty-five cents. The money received from the five thousand applications will be used to stage a big rush party in Dallas.

Ohio State initiation week procedures were drastically revised for the winter neophyte class. It was felt that the old style of Hell Week was not proving relevant to the young college man any more, although it was not entirely eliminated.

Instead of the traditional pledge project of providing some physical improvement for the house, the eligibles were asked to try to analyze the chapter from their viewpoint, and draw up a plan for improving the structure as Ohio Gamma prepares to move into a new chapter house and a new decade.

One emphasis of the report was on the pledge program. They believed that pledges should be treated as equal members of the house except in voting and ritualistic matters. Each pledge should be placed on a committee and given real responsibilities, so that he would feel that he was a part of the house from his first week with the pledge pin on. Through a seminar given by the committee chairmen, the pledges could pick the area that interested them most. Eligibles would sit in on regular chapter meetings until the new business phase, at which point they would retire to their own proceedings.

Other areas covered included rush, finances, the Little Sisters program, cabinet, and the executive committee. The program was presented to the chapter during initiation week, and carefully analyzed and criticized by the actives. Following initiation, the annual chapter retreat was held.

Parsons Sig Eps are in the second semester of rebuilding with the help of a new seven-week lecture program for their pledges. This new program has brought their manpower from five, in the fall, to 24. Treating the pledges as men, to learn the responsibilities of operating a fraternity, has brought unity to the entire house, as well as the pledge class. Spare the board and unify the fraternity is the new policy at Parsons.

Brotherhood

BY JOHN SOLOMON

In honor of their recently deceased brother, Craig Svoboda, the Sig Eps of Illinois Tech contributed money to the American Cancer Society in hope that, soon in the future, lives such as that of Brother Svoboda's will not be lost to this disease.

We appeal to all chapters to give what they can no matter how little.—J.S.

AS A PLEDGE at Illinois Tech, I came to learn about brotherhood and to understand it from Craig Svoboda, a deeply loved and respected brother, who died recently. I first met Craig on the night of his initiation last October. Shortly after his initiation he had to again return to the hospital for more treatments. Prior to his initiation, Craig had spent two years between the hospital and school. Craig, while he was in the hospital tal in November seemed quite himself when people visited, but I remembered how his parents always left the room when we visited and behaved despairingly, for you see Craig did not want others to suffer or share his pain with those he liked and so he put up a front to all of us. He went home for a little while in the end of November, but in December he was forced to return to the hospital. Craig, quite critical, had finally abandoned his front. He now waited and hoped. We at the house would sit around and talk up medical advancements and achievements but one could not help but feel despaired when someone close is alone in his fight for life. In January, Craig lost his consciousness with the world, due to his numerous treatments and drugs. He didn't even recognize his best friends. I, myself, had planned to visit him in the third week of January, but I was forced to wait another week because of work at school. I never made that visit. For by Monday of that week, Craig died. It was a stunning blow to the house, and I had never seen so many people stricken with grief at one time, as I did then. Nobody wanted to believe it, and there was nothing that could be said that wouldn't sound trite. To us at Illinois Tech, this was a great loss. At the wake, the cold, hard reality was shocking. Many people came to pay their respect. I was shocked, along with others, to see a few people who could sit and gossip at the wake. Many sat as in a daze. We were happy that our brother was at peace, but after leaving there, many of us could say nothing for quite some time. I, myself, congratulate the Svobodas for the courage they showed throughout the whole ordeal. Craig, in the past, planned many road rallies for the house, so in his memory every road rally in the future will be in his honor. I had known Craig, shared good times with him and he in turn had taught me how to be a brother. He taught me to be considerate of others, to be diligent in my efforts even if they seemed futile, and he showed everyone that to be a brother in Sigma Phi Epsilon was truly a sacred honor, something to be proud of and never ashamed of. But most of all Craig showed me brotherhood, for he put the feelings of those around him above his own.

Defiance Colony captures first in all-campus sing.

NEW CHAPTERS IN THE MAKING

The Defiance Colony, consisting of 32 colony actives and 19 pledges, won the annual all-campus sing. They renovated a college-owned ice skating rink for student use. For the college soccer team, William Batt was selected to the All-Mid-Ohio Conference defensive team. Sig Eps staged their annual spring pledge class exchange with Alpha Xi Delta. The brotherhood also sponsored a "getacquainted" party with other area Sig Ep chapters.

The fraternity has established a scholastic review board to aid brothers who are striving to achieve academic excellence. A judicial board to decide on rules and regulations has also been activated. The colony has established a new chapter library and has plans to convert an old barn into a place for social activities.

A brother at Defiance uses the colony library.

The Sig Eps participated in a mock disaster for the benefit of training hospital personnel. The brotherhood collected and distributed canned goods for needy persons in the community. They also provided transportation to and from college football games for the local Children's Home.

John D. Burkett and Debra Corwin, and Thomas Everett Schmenk and Alison Crowell were recently married. Vincent J. DeStasio and Gerald Hazzard serve in the armed services.

Officers: Peter J. Lehrer, president; John C. Sorenson, vice-president; Kenneth Kuzma, controller; Jim Beach, secretary; Gary Roeth, recorder.

At Lawrence Institute of Technology (Mich.), the local fraternity Kappa Phi Sigma was accorded colony status on October 25. On January 25, having completed the pledge period, 19 men were initiated as colony actives. These men completed their Educating for Brotherhood program under the direction of Staff Representative Mike Williams and University of Detroit members Steve Becker, Mike Somyak, and Gary Bauman.

Those initiated: Terry Bilobus, Ken Brosch, David Canavesio, Jim Denisio, Mark Hall, Jim Hedgecock, Karl Kandler, Gary Koenig, Jim Kolanek, Al Levett, Rich Nawrocki, Brian Newlin, John Pintal, Gerrit Stemmer, Ben Swaine, Gary Thunick, Al Webb, Jim Wiggins, and Dean Yost.

Activities of these members include: Student Government positions of president, Jim Wiggins; treasurer, Gerrit Stemmer; Blood Bank and Elections chairman, Ben Swaine; and Spring Fair chairman, Terry Bilovus. Tech News editor-inchief is Jim Denisio; photographer, Jim Kolanek; and cartoonist, Al Webb. Jim Denisio is IFC treasurer.

Community and campus service projects and affairs include: Toys for Tots, Campus Christmas Decoration, Christmas party for underprivileged, open school dances, free coffee days, Jet Set Holiday drawing, blood bank, and distribution of the Student Guide Handbook to incoming feshmen. This book is prepared and printed by the brothers.

The Sig Ep rivals are Alpha Epsilon Pi, Alpha Sigma Phi, Theta Xi, Phi Kappa Upsilon, and Omega Psi Phi.

Spring pledges: Dennis Brills, Larry Bowles, Tim Pawloski, and Bob Zimcosky.

Elected January 11: Rich Nawrocki, president;
Brian Newlin, vice-president; Ken Brosch, recorder; Jim Kolanek, secretary; Jim Denisio, chaplain; John Pintal, pledge instructor; Al Webb and Terry Bilovus, marshals; and Dean Yost, controller.

The Sig Ep Colony at Madison College (Va.), which received its charter on April 11, is a high-achieving organization. John Heerlein is editor of the school paper and a Who's Who selectee. Bob Toohey is president of the Men's Athletic Association. Mike Cappetto is president of the Men's Student Government. Dennis Moore is president of the Sophomore Class. Lee Kerns is president of Shorts Hall dormitory. Steve Nardi is president of the Varsity Club. Mike Holleran is the head resident of Shorts Hall dorm.

In basketball two starting team members are Bob Toohey and Mike Kohler. Bob is captain of the varsity team. Seven Sig Eps at Madison lettered in soccer: John Gillette, Steve Nardi, Pat McLaughlin, Scott Mackey, Bob Robinson, Charlie Wymer, and Mike Mott.

On the tennis team are Steve Nardi and Charlie Wymer. Chuck Shomo and Denny Fellona are among the top four on the golf team. Barry Threewitts and Larry Trollinger are on the baseball team.

Intramural teams have made a clean sweep in football, soccer, wrestling, basketball, and swimming. The Sigs Eps have first place.

Madison doesn't recognize housing on campus, so the colony decided to seek a place elsewhere to meet, watch TV, take dates, and to party. The place is a former service station which was built in 1922 and has been used as a museum, store, and so on. The brothers and the pledges have made the Station a real showplace. Many thanks go to the chapters who donated pennants representing their schools. The lodge has 18 acres which the brothers use for sports and picnics.

Phil Wetzel is head of the youth program at the Presbyterian Church. In their drive for the scholarship fund, members will sell Anti-Pollution stickers to the residents of Harrisonburg. The Sig Eps are donating $500 to the scholarship fund this year.

Elected: president, Charles Shomo; vice-president, Richard Crist; controller, Lee Kerns; recorder, Henry Fawcett; secretary, Jerry Green.

Recently pledged: Joe Erickson, Bill White, Larry York, Jim Cobb, Gary Thompson, Bruce Mowyer, Glen Lake, Dave Smith, Charles Ballard. —Jerry Green

The men of Morehead State and the men of Marshall plan to play a softball game at Marshall on May 10 and another at Morehead later. Also, the annual series of softball games between the University of Kentucky and Morehead State will be resumed in May.

Morehead State Sig Eps hosted a retreat with the brothers from Marshall and University of Kentucky on March 22.

Kathy Rhude, Kappa Delta, was crowned Sweetheart at the first annual Queen of Hearts ball February 13.

The men of Morehead and the women of Zeta Tau Alpha held a party for the inmates of the Federal Youth Institute at Ashland.

At Morehead State, Jim Solter is on the golf team while Roger Steuart is defending intramural golf champion.

Bill Bradford is serving his second year as student government president.

David Feldmann is a Who's Who selectee.

At Morehead, Bill Bradford, student government president, chats with Little Sister Pat Terry, who is a student government secretary.

The three members of the Texas Tech Colony (seated) are surrounded by the ten pledges.

Members of the Northern Illinois Colony participated in Winter Carnival with the Kappa Deltas. With Alpha Omicron Pi they sponsored a volleyball tournament and are planning May Fete with the Sigma Kappas. They also plan to paint curbs with the Sigma Kappas to raise funds.

As a result of Staff Representative Milt Prettyman's visit, the colony has picked up a unity of aim which was lacking.

—JERRY VARLAND

Since the colony at Northrop Tech acquired a new house, social gatherings have been more enjoyable. The pledges have helped keep the house in tiptop shape and recently raised about $65 in a car wash.

The colony entered softball competition for the first time by defeating the AIAA team 12-7. Later the team defeated Alpha Eta Rho 17-10.

Members have supported the Sig Ep Camp Fund 100 per cent.

-Wallace Armitage

Seton Hall Colony is scheduled to be installed as New Jersey Gamma on May 9 and 10.

Staff Representative David E. Lembach visited the Colony several times during February.

The colony has a manpower of 29 men and 5 pledges.

The colony's football team captured the IFC championship by defeating Phi Kappa Theta, 13-0, in the finals. Sig Ep was represented on the wrestling team by Dave Arminio (118), Art Monaco (126), Captain Jim Kushner (134), and Al DiMeo (142). Jim Kushner won the 136-pound crown at the C.W. Post Invitational Tournament in December. He placed second in the Metropolitan Conference Championships in February. In baseball, the colony is represented by pitcher John Schmitt and firstbaseman, Pat Philbin.

The Colony sponsored a drive for the Muscular Dystrophy Foundation which netted $257.

Officers for 1970-71 are: Art Monaco, president; John Schmitt, vice-president; Dave Arminio, recorder; Pat Philbin, secretary; and Jim Mc-Cormick, controller.

—Patrick Philbin The Texas Tech Colony was formally established when John P. Hearn and Roger L. Strube, staff representatives, gave the pledge oath to eight selected members on February 9. Next, a Lubbock chapter of the Alumni Association was formed with Michael Gannaway, Colorado State, '62, former staff representative, as alumni adviser.

Officers for the colony were elected as follows: Ronny Ramsey, president; Virgil Barber, vicepresident; Jim Ward, corresponding secretary; Roger Norwood, controller; and Richard Brigham, recorder.

After being advised as to rush proceedings by the staff representatives a series of smokers and rush parties was held resulting in the pledging of 18 more members. The pledges are Ronny Ramsey, Virgil Barber, Jim Ward, Roger Norwood, Richard Brigham, Fritz Wisdom, Mazel Merrill, Rick Campbell, Myron Messner, Mark Stewart, Randy Brillhart, Steve Jantzen, Ken Schneider, Darryl Wilkie, Bob Lyles, Jody Gilles, Travis Ware, Byrne Smith, John Moore, Richard Alcantar, John Cook, Kit Stewart, David Hausler, Rox Edgar, Douglas Darden, and Steve Chandler.

Two Sig Eps on the Texas Tech campus are Mike Chamblee, North Texas State, and R. Dan Crone, Monmouth College; both are transfer students.

In an effort to get the Sig Eps recognized on campus, a large Sigma Phi Epsilon banner was displayed during the televised Texas-Texas Tech basketball game before a capacity crowd of 10,000. Also, representatives were sent to each sorority on campus to explain the history, goals, and pledgeship of Sigma Phi Epsilon. It was requested that the names of interested men be given to the rush chairmen and this action resulted in an enthusiastic response. —James W. Ward Wisconsin State-Superior manpower: 19 members, 13 pledges.

Colony members: Rich Bonnem, Elkins Park, Pa.; Jim Cusick, Cresskill, N.J.; Vince Dastolfo, Millville, N.J.; Doug Dudek, Seymore; Bill Gehr, Sheboygan; John Gibson, Merchantville, N.J.; Mike Hodell, Pottstown, Pa.; Randy Johnson, Antigo; Tom Kuhn, Nutley, N.J.; Mike Levitsky, Woodbury, N.J.; Mike Maloy, Summit, Ill.; Warren Mann, New Canaan, Conn.; Tom Reichardt, Lombard, Ill.; Jerry Rovner, Havertown, Pa.; Roy Schoenfeld, Pawtucket, R.I.; Jim Shaughnessy, Summit, Ill.; Scott Walter, Crystal Lake, Ill.; Greg Willems, Kenosha.

Recently pledged: Doug Agar, Wayne Anderson, Gordy Besch, Kent Bowman, Jeff Craig, Bob Gironimi, John Kurtz, Doug Plath, Al Remitz, Dale Schauls, Tom Skore, George Wymer, Bob Young.

Colony officers elected in March: Tom Kuhn, president; Doug Dudek, vice-president; Randy Johnson, controller; Tom Reichardt, secretary; Rich Bonnem, recorder.

During Snow Week, the colony took first place in skits and sculpture winning the 1970 over-all trophy.

The skit, directed by Warren Mann, was a combination of film and live action portraying Mike Maloy and Roy Schoenfeld as Laurel and Hardy and the remaining members as the Keystone Kops. The cameramen were Scott Walter and Jerry Royner.

John Gibson, former president, was designer and detail expert of the prize-winning snow sculp-

Superior Colony scored 50 of 75 points as they competed for the first time.

Graduating this June: Vince Dastolfo, Ed Kaelin, Roy Schoenfeld.

RED DOOR NOTES

Alabama pledges remodeled a second floor storage room into a spacious new library.

Arkansas pledges have recarpeted the informal lounge.

At Atlantic Christian the chapter room, study, and halls both upstairs and down have been painted. One bathroom has been painted and a wall paneled. The bathroom, kitchen, and an adjoining room have been tiled. New furniture has been acquired for the chapter room.

Baker redid the Bull Room with red wall-towall carpeting and black leather furniture. The Front Hall has been paneled in walnut and a new chandelier installed. The Mothers' Club provided 40 new chairs for the dining room. There is new black leather furniture in the library.

Baldwin-Wallace Sig Eps are housed in a section of the dormitory but are looking into the possibilities of building or buying a house. The alumni board has bought a color TV for the lounge.

Bradley brother DellaValle, Majcen, and McGuire, all I.E. majors, recently redesigned the back parking lot which increased parking capacity by 50 per cent. They also finished the design for the chapter's barbecue pit which is to be finished by Spring Fling Weekend.

Carroll Sig Eps have received a new flagpole from the Parents' Club.

At Colorado State U., the alumni board donated paneling for the front hall and front stairs. The halls in the basement and upstairs have recently been painted and a new ceiling was installed in the trophy room. A recent alumnus donated furniture for the chapter room.

Cornell house, 109 McGraw Place, Ithaca.

At Cornell, a new patio is being built by the Pledge Class of '70 with funds provided by the Alumni Association.

Drury Sig Eps replaced damaged shingles on the roof and are making improvements in the plumbing and wiring. A new color TV was purchased and new furniture ordered.

Duke Sig Eps contributed their free hours to last spring's work in the completion of the new addition to the William R. Perkins Library. Over 500,000 books were moved from the existing facilities to the new addition to provide more space and order in book selection. Library officials offered a prize of $1,000 to the fraternity which donated the highest number of hours per brother as well as $500 and $300 prizes for second and third place honors.

Sigma Phi Epsilon jumped to a lead in the first weeks and never relinquished it. The Sig Eps averaged over 18 hours per brother, compared to an average of 13 hours per man for the second place fraternity. The prize money has been allocated to help purchase furniture for the new dorm section which the fraternity is occupying for the first time this year.

East Carolina Sig Eps completed work on the main entrance porch. Plans have been completed to re-shingle the roof of the main house and lay tile in the second house.

East Tennessee State Sig Eps have installed a new ceiling and wall-to-wall carpeting on the second floor. The showers were redone and extensive work has been done on the heating system. Rick Devivi and John Webster have designed and constructed an address sign. West wing of the third floor and the TV room were remodeled by Fats Wigginton. A volleyball court was constructed for spring use by John Stepens and Gary Reed.

At Georgia Tech, the alumni association, which calls itself "The Sig Ep Builders," gave the chapter an ice machine.

Illinois Tech Sig Eps installed a tapper in the basement and changed over to mixing faucets in the sinks in the house. A new washer and dryer were put in the basement laundry room.

Iowa Sig Eps paneled and remodeled the hall-ways on the upper levels. The bathrooms were replastered and painted. Pledges as a Help Week project, cleaned and repainted the kitchen and dining room.

At Kent State, Bob Schorr and Steve Lieber have added a new room in the basement of the house. The Little Sisters gave the brothers a color TV for Christmas.

At Lehigh, the Mothers' Club furnished the chapter with a new freezer for the kitchen.

Louisiana State house at Baton Rouge, La.

Long Beach State Sig Eps received a color TV from the Little Sisters.

At Miami (Fla.), an early morning fire on February 5 destroyed two rooms and a bathroom and did heavy smoke damage to two other rooms. No one was injured, but four men lost all their personal belongings. Damage to the house was estimated at $7,000 and an additional $10,000 for personal belongings.

Miami (Ohio) Sig Eps have refurnished the living room and hallway and purchased new furniture and draperies.

The new Missouri-Rolla chapter house, now being constructed on the site of the former house at 801 Park Street, is expected to be completed by July 15, 1970, and dedicated at 1970 Homecoming.

Ground-breaking ceremonies were held Saturday, October 25 during the Homecoming weekend. Presiding over the ceremonies was Bill Logel, president of the alumni board. A benediction was given by Father Carlo of the Episcopalian Church in Rolla. Brother Logel gave a short speech in which he outlined the history of the project and the goals of the chapter.

Dr. Merl Baker, chancellor of the university, praised Sigma Phi Epsilon on its undertaking and performance on campus. Rolla Mayor Logan also gave a short talk. Also in attendance were Peter Hanson, treasurer of the alumni board; Bill French, chapter counselor; Dick Rechtien, faculty adviser; Ron Eilers, chapter president; alumni, parents, and brothers. After the ceremonies, a cocktail reception was held at the chapter's temporary residence.

The three-story, full basement structure will house 82 men. The 3,300-square-feet basement will have a large chapter room, a serving area, a 1,550-square-feet recreational area, and storage space. The rustic ground level is appointed with exposed beams and rough rock walls. It will contain a living room complete with fireplace, a library, an allelectric kitchen, and dining facilities for 90 people. The second and third floors will have two-and four-man rooms, restroom and shower facilities, study room and lounge on each floor.

The chief credit for this dream coming true goes to the alumni, who have given much time and effort, and who established a housing fund to augment the Grand Chapter Housing Fund loan and other investments. Each member contributed monthly to this local fund.

At North Carolina, the chapter room has been completely redecorated and opened to the public for the first time as the Neil Wester Room. It is named in honor of Brother Wester, '69, who died of leukemia in September, 1969. The renovations were made possible by undergraduate contributions and a bequest left to the fraternity by Brother Wester.

Missouri-Rolla Sig Eps break ground for new house. From left: Ed Waters, architect; Peter Hanson, alumni treasurer; Merl Baker, University chancellor; Bill Logel, alumni president; Bill French, chapter counselor; William Logan, mayor of Rolla; Dick Rechtien, faculty adviser; Ron Eilers, chapter president.

> New draperies and benches, attractive light fixtures, a plush red carpet, and beautiful paneling now grace the room. A plaque in memory of Brother Wester has been hung. Undergraduates completed all the work.

> This redecoration has been done in conjunction with the establishment of the Neil Wester Top Hustler Award, to be given by Sigma Phi Epsilon each year to the varsity baseball player who contributes most to team morale.

Ohio State Sig Eps renovated the housemother's suite. Several of the rooms have been remodeled and the bathroom facilities updated.

Ohio Wesleyan Sig Eps constructed an arch with sliding doors to separate the dining room from the TV room.

At Pennsylvania, the alumni are renovating the bathrooms, and the brothers have repainted the dining room. The chapter is hopeful that additional space may be made available in Universityowned facilities.

Alabama's Foreign Student

WALTER CERVANTES, a foreign exchange student from Peru, is visiting Alabama Sig Eps. Under a program sponsored by the IFC, Walter and several other foreign exchange students are taking their meals at fraternities. They spend a month at each house. Walter came to the house in February and was asked to stay for the remainder of the semester.

A junior in the school of engineering and a member of Theta Tau, he is president of the International Students Association and is well known on campus. Although he likes American football he prefers soccer, which he plays for the university.

The chapter enjoys talking with Walter about how South Americans feel about the United States and he in turn enjoys telling about the places he has seen in America. Last summer he worked in New York City and he hopes to visit more of the country before he graduates next year.

Having a foreign exchange student with the chapter has been a rewarding experience. The brothers have a new appreciation of the American image and how it is viewed in Latin America. Alabama Sig Eps also hope to have had a small part in furthering a new understanding with the Latin American neighbors, through Walter's eyes.

Randolph-Macon Sig Eps have remodeled their basement, using an "Old Salt" decor.

At Southern Mississippi, damage from Hurricane Camille has been repaired, and the inside of the house was repainted. Members sanded and stained the exposed beams in the chapter room. A new refrigerator and cabinets for test files were donated. Plans are being made for renovation of the kitchen, and work has begun on landscaping.

Stevens Point Sig Eps have installed a study room in the basement. Work has started on a memorial library in memory of James Cmeyla.

Tennessee Wesleyan Sig Eps after ten years in the same location, have moved to a new location only a block away on Green Street. A new fraternity row will be built in two years.

Thiel Sig Eps installed a pool table, color TV, and stereo in the chapter room. Rooms have been repainted throughout the house and ceiling tile laid.

Toledo Sig Eps have remodeled the basement. This includes a new bar and new carpeting.

Wichita State Sig Eps installed wood paneling in the halls and will enlarge the kitchen.

Worcester Tech has wallpapered its library, refinished its bar, laid a new rug in its music room, and put up a new party room ceiling.

At Youngstown, Little Sisters gave the house new curtains for the first floor. The newly dedicated Sweetheart Room has new walnut paneling and gold print wallpaper accented with gold carpeting.

Cyclists in High Gear

INDIANA SIG EPS have moved their Little 500 program into high gear in preparation for the "World's Greatest College Weekend." Highlighted by the Little 500 bicycle race, each year the weekend helps raise over $15,000 for scholarships given to worthy Indiana University students. 1970's Little 500 marks the program's 20th birthday and will add to the $246,700 already awarded in the form of scholastic aid.

This year the Sig Eps are led once again by All-Star rider and 3-year veteran Tom Battle of Columbus. Also back from last year's team are Bob Henderson of Cicero, Joe Lattak of Gary, and Mark Wade of Columbus. Newcomers are Tim Brannigan of Birmingham, Mich., and Tom Davis of Indianapolis.

Stetson University Sig Eps played host to the Indiana bike team in Florida this spring vacation. The annual trip provides the riders with a rigid training schedule which includes riding more than 50 miles per day.

Last year Indiana Beta Chapter pulled in five trophies including the prized Sportsmanship Cup given to the campus housing unit which has the best over-all Little 500 program.

term. "Mom E" has been a major factor in the growth of the chapter. The chapter and alumni association have dedicated this year's Golden Heart Ball to "Mom E."

Iowa State Sig Eps are losing their housemother, Mom McKone, through retirement, after 21 dedicated years of service. Five college generations have known and loved her. They are grateful to her for what she has taught them and the devoted concern she has shown them. She will reside in Ames where she has many friends.

To display their warmth and affection for Mom McKone, the brothers elected her as the queen at their annual Queen of Hearts ball in February.

At Kansas State, Little Sisters of the Golden Heart from chapters in the state met for a retreat March 21. Girls from Washburn, Emporia, Baker, Fort Hays, and Kansas University met at the house for a short business meeting which was followed by a banquet at the Union. In the afternoon the girls toured the fraternity house and traded bits of news and ideas to improve Golden Heart organization for the state's chapters. An informal party was held in the afternoon so that everyone could get aquainted.

At Kent State, Mom Ross is starting out in her third year as housemother. Rachael Mae Rhoades will retire next year as cook after 15 years of service.

At Mississippi State, Mrs. Elizabeth Humburg is in her third year as housemother. Her hobbies include travel and working for "her boys."

Montana Sig Eps named their cook, Mrs. Hazel Evans, honorary Queen of Hearts for her years of devoted service.

At Ohio State, Mrs. Margaret Thomas, originally of Brazil, Ind., has been selected as the new housemother, replacing Mrs. Ruth Perkins, who took an executive position after three years of service. Mrs. Thomas serves as adviser to the chapter Mothers' Club, and recently doubled as cook.

At Southern Mississippi, Mrs. Wilma L. Johnston is completing her first year as housemother. She is from Picayune, Miss., and was dean of women at Perkinston Junior College before coming to Southern. Hobbies include fishing, gardening, and ceramics.

At Western Michigan, Elizabeth Karroll is completing her 11th year after which she will retire. "Thanks, Mom."

TIME OUT FOR HUMANITY

Alabama Sig Eps with Alpha Omicron Pi held a spring party for underprivileged children of Partlow School, Tuscaloosa.

Baldwin-Wallace Sig Eps recently hung Berea Health fund envelopes on doorknobs in the Berea area. They also participated in the Campus Chest.

Bradley Sig Eps held their annual Easter orphans' party with Chi Omega. An Easter egg hunt, candy and games were provided for the orphans.

Bradley brothers received a first place trophy for their $200 contribution to the March of Dimes.

Carroll Sig Eps took a group of local orphans to a college basketball game.

Chico State brothers have been active in the United Heart Fund and Muscular Dystrophy drives, surpassing the record of other fraternities.

Colorado State U. Sig Eps played the Denver Broncos of the American Football League in a charity basketball game for the Underprivileged Spanish American Children. The Sig Eps won 98-80.

The brothers helped the American Cancer Society by stuffing numerous pamphlets and folders for a cancer donation drive.

All the members of the house have donated to the Camp Fund and to the Easter Seal Campaign. Luther R. M. Hall, public relations chairman, did most of the organizing.

Culver-Stockton Sig Eps collected for the Heart Fund Drive.

Drake Sig Eps and Alpha Phis solicited for the Heart Fund on January 31 and February 7.

Drury Sig Eps took over responsibilities during illness of the caretaker of the Green County Humane Society. The members took in dogs, cared for the animals, and did paper work. Southwest

Emporia Sig Eps run marathon for Heart Fund.

Missouri State Sig Eps led a drive for muscular dystrophy in Springfield.

East Carolina Sig Eps recently sold raffle tickets for the Cystic Fibrosis Research Center.

East Tennessee State Sig Eps teamed with the Salvation Army to collect money for the needy. Money was also recently collected for the Heart Fund. The chapter touch football team lost to the local boys' home and entertained the winners at the house with a barbecue.

At Houston, Pat McCormick attracts a donor.

Emporia State Sig Eps ran a check 75 miles from the Lyon County Heart Fund headquarters in Emporia, to the Governor's mansion in Topeka. They also sponsored a bowling tournament to raise money for the fund. The Sig Eps undertook the marathon relay run in order to get publicity for the statewide Heart Fund Drive.

The brothers ran in relays, beginning at 5:15 A.M., February 28 and arrived in Topeka at 1:45 P.M. The check, amounting to $100, was a token of the over $2,000 collected in Lyon County. The check was presented to Mrs. Robert Docking, wife of the governor and honorary Heart Fund chairman. After the presentation, Mrs. Docking and the Governor held a reception for the runner. The run achieved the desired publicity as it was covered by local television and three newspapers.

Houston Sig Eps and Phi Mus collected $1,102.71 on March 14 for the March of Dimes at the busy intersection of Wayside and Lawndale Streets.

At Iowa, Dennis Jasper, Jim Foster, Gary Keoppel, and Tim Hoffman have joined the local "Big Brother program." Each brother is assigned an underprivileged boy with whom he works weekly. Efforts are being made on the part of the Sig Eps to make the program a system-wide service activity.

A number of the brothers have volunteered to donate blood to the Greek Week blood drive and will help in the annual Heart Fund Drive.

Kansas State Sig Eps participated in Environmental Awareness Week in April. The activities, part of a nation-wide effort to dramatize the need for pollution control, were initiated by a speech by United States Secretary of the Interior Walter Hickel, April 6.

Kansas Beta initiated an exchange dinner with the Tri Deltas and will participate with them as a team in a clean-up contest sponsored by a K-State group, Citizens for a Better Environment. The contest, in addition to dramatization of pollution and littering, is designed to get students and residents concerned with the pollution problem.

Kansas Beta members will team with the women of Kappa Kappa Gamma to solicit funds in a door-to-door campaign for the Manhattan YMCA. The "Y" has been experiencing financial difficulties recently due to rising costs and declining contributions.

At Maine, Alpha, 25 brothers went to Eastern Maine General Hospital in Bangor to donate to the Sig Ep Blood Bank.

Marshall Sig Eps collected for the Muscular Dystrophy Foundation, the American Cancer Society, and the Bill Hillian Kidney Fund. Pledges gathered more than 7,000 cans of food for needy families.

Michigan Sig Eps collected $3,100 in the Shamrocks for Dystrophy drive which they sponsored.

Michigan State brothers and Little Sisters participated in volunteer work at the Holt Home for the aged. They spoke with Mrs. Richard Nixon and reporters during the First Lady's recent tour of the volunteer programs at MSU.

Mississippi State Sig Eps bounced a basketball January 29-31 in a three-day marathon to kick off the Mississippi Heart Fund campaign. From Columbus to Jackson is approximately 190 miles and at Jackson the basketball and $1,000 collected along the route were turned over to Governor John Bell Williams, Missouri-Rolla pledges in their workweek over semester break helped a needy family near Rolla. The work accomplished involved fixing a leaking water pipe, replacing electrical wiring, sealing the windows, stacking firewood, and a general cleanup of the house and grounds.

Montana State Sig Eps captured first for the fifth straight year with the highest percentage of participants in the Red Cross campus blood drive.

New Mexico Sig Eps participated in the Muscular Dystrophy drive, an IFC project.

North Carolina Sig Eps went to the aid of their next-door neighbor, the United Church Day Care Center of Chapel Hill after heavy rains flooded the premises. Due to their efforts, further flooding was prevented, at the same time they bailed out the water. "It is gratifying to have such good neighbors," the Rev. Phillips S. Washburn wrote to the Headquarters of the fraternity.

The Sig Eps raised more than $400 for muscular dystrophy.

North Carolina State Sig Eps sold shamrocks on St. Patrick's Day for muscular dystrophy relief.

Ohio State Sig Eps received their third fiveyear award from the American Heart Association for continuous service in Heart Fund drives. In a door-to-door canvassing of the university area, the campaign netted approximately $325.

Ohio Wesleyan Sig Eps collected $675 in their annual drive for the Heart Fund.

Philadelphia Textile Sig Eps collected for Unicef and the Heart Fund and aided the Red Cross by sponsoring a blood drive which netted 200 pints.

Rensselaer Sig Eps went on long walks

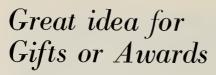

Indiana's Steve Geiger in Bloodmobile.

Ohio State men collect for Heart Fund.

At Rensselaer, Jack Kelly and his friend Michelle work as team for the Heart Fund.

Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity P.O. Box 1901 Richmond, Virginia 23215 through Troy and Albany and with their dates collected nearly $1,000 for the Heart Fund.

Richmond Sig Eps sponsored, in conjunction with a local radio station, a 72-hour basketball-bouncing marathon for the Heart Fund in February. Stationed at a local shopping center, the Sig Eps netted over $1,400 for the Heart Fund. The chapter was awarded the Outstanding Service Project award of Heart Fund month in the Richmond area.

At Richmond, Duncan Frazer, past president, engineered the recent Heart Fund drive which netted over $1,400 for the Heart Fund. Duncan was also instrumental in organizing the National Muscular Dystrophy Tag Day among the Sig Ep chapters. Duncan, a biology major, is a Dean's List student, member of Beta Beta Beta, Phillips Foundation Scholarship winner, and a Phi Beta Kappa.

Rollins Sig Eps have adopted the Lutheran Children's Orphanage at Winter Park as their weekly community service project. Sig Eps tutor the children and coach them in sports. Mike Madonick is project director.

Sacramento State brothers donated 12 pints of blood to a member of Phi Kappa Tau who was seriously injured in a motorcycle accident.

Stevens Point Sig Eps spearheaded a drive for muscular dystrophy which netted $900.

Syracuse Sig Eps teamed with the Alpha Phis to raise $250 for the Muscular Dystrophy Foundation.

senting Alpha Omicron Pi, collected money in the "ugly man" contest.

Tri-State won the IFC Public Relations Plaque of 1969. They gave blood at Red Cross blood drives and won the trophy for the highest percentages given in the last two drives. They sponsored several programs to collect money for the Heart Fund. They raised $670 furing the month of February. For the Indiana Association of Retarded Children, on Honey Sunday, March 15, they sold over 800 bottles of honey, netting $470 for the local Retarded Children's Home.

Vermont Sig Eps and Alpha Delta Pi jointly sponsored a campus-wide Heart Fund drive in which they collected more than $500. Sig Ep and Alpha Delta Pi held an Easter party for 30 underprivileged children. Harry Willard was the Easter Bunny.

Wake Forest Sig Eps raised $300 in the Shamrocks for Dystrophy drive and also took part in the tuberculosis campaign.

West Virginia Tech Sig Eps have placed first in the state in the recent Muscular Dystrophy fund-raising drive. The brothers, under the direction of project chairman Lance Diaz, collected $775 in several nearby towns. The drive was conducted on March 14, with nearly 100 per cent participation by the active brothers and the Golden Hearts and pledges.

Wichita State Sig Eps took part in a March for Mankind, money-raising project for Project Concern. This is a nonprofit national medical relief program based on a deep concern for humanity.

Max French took part in the rocking chair contest for the March of Dimes, rocking for over 24 hours with only one two-minute break.

Youngstown Sig Eps entertained 200 screaming children at an Easter party. Peter Rabbit (Mike Marrie) came hopping in with candy for all. The brothers had as much (or more) fun than the children, playing games and singing songs with them. The Easter party pays the brothers well in smiles of gratitude. The following day, more than 30 brothers and pledges marched for the March of Dimes, collecting more money than any other fraternity.

A Call to North Texas

I can only conclude that Texas Beta (North Texas State) (1) no longer exists or (2) has deteriorated to the point where undergraduate members are embarrassed to have news of the chapter printed.—Jeron Stevens, Texas Beta, '65, 2530 Palo Pinto, Houston, Tex.

DEVOTION UPON EMERGENT OCCASIONS

■ The Iowa Sig Ep house recently became the home away from home for Joseph Davida, a foreign student from Baghdad, Iraq. Joe, who speaks fluent English, the brothers say has proved to be an unusual educational and fellowship experience for the entire house. He seems to enjoy

Joseph Davida Iowa's foreign student most of all American girls and learning about American customs and folkways. He is also playing soccer for the Iowa soccer team. He plans to become a dentist. His older brother, George, a Sig Ep and a physics instructor at Iowa, also came from Iran 7 years ago.

■ 91,000TH INITIATE. Glenn Hookstra, a sophomore majoring in physical therapy at Nebraska, was initiated as the 91,000th member of Sigma Phi Epsilon on March 8. He is the 1106th member to be initiated by Nebraska Alpha.

Hookstra, whose home city is Octavia, plans to complete his education at the University of Nebraska-Omaha in 1973.

■ Snow, sleet, the dark of night, and what not can sometimes stay the swift couriers of the U.S. Post Office from completing their appointed round, but with the Sig Eps of the Illinois Institute of Technology in Chicago, material for the Sig Ep JOURNAL must go through.

Consequently, on the deadline date for the May issue—March 25—which happened to be during the Easter break—Illinois Tech Sig Eps John Richard Solomon, Brian Fox, George Lykos, and Dennis Griswald got into their car with a packet of reports and photos for the JOURNAL and delivered them into the hands of the amazed editor in Menasha, Wisconsin. The round trip in round numbers is 400 miles!

- The Colorado state legislature has changed the name of Colorado State College (Greeley), home of Sigma Phi Epsilon's Colorado Epsilon Chapter, to University of Northern Colorado.
- Russ Hill, Southeast Missouri State, is the author of the prize-winning commercial for Alka-Seltzer which shows prisoners in a dining hall banging their cups on the table and yelling "Alka-Seltzer!"

John H. Sim, editor of Missouri Zeta Alumni News, tells the story in his March, 1970, issue. Hill entered the idea in the advertising agency's contest, won the contest, a trip to New York, and a job which he plans to begin after he earns his degree.

A number of rewarding graduate assistantships are available at the University of Vermont for qualified men and women interested in working as residence hall advisors while pursuing a graduate degree. In addition, assistantships in several student personnel offices are also available.

Candidates will have an opportunity to obtain valuable practical experience in the areas of group advising, administration and educational programming. They will share in promoting intellectual, cultural, social, athletic, and other related activities sponsored by residence hall organizations and will serve as advisors in helping to interpret University policy, programs and procedures to students.

Positions are open to either married or single students who qualify for graduate work in any of the academic programs of the University. Selection is based on academic record, character, recommendations and quality of related experiences. All applicants will be considered without regard to race, religion, color or national origin. A personal interview is required.

Residence Hall Assistantships are valued at from $2,800 to $4,200, and include a full tuition scholarship plus room and board, with a minimum stipend of $1,200.

The Graduate College of The University of Vermont offers seventy different programs leading to the master's degree and ten programs leading to the degree of doctor of philosophy. These include the Master of Education degrees in Guidance and in Student Personnel Work in Higher Education.

If the idea of studying and working at one of New England's finest Universities appeals to you, write for an application and information materials to The Office of The Dean of Students, The University of Vermont, Burlington, Vermont 05401.

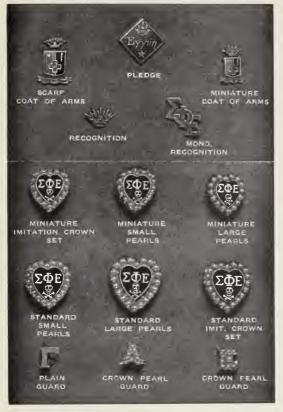

- Colorado Mines Sig Eps are proud to announce a 100 per cent contribution to the camp fund for the 19th consecutive year.
- Syracuse brothers are sad to report the death of their twin cat mascots, whose nine lives gave out simultaneously—Rosie and Posie.
